Russia's Action To Divide Europe Into Two Worlds

Czechoslovakia Forced By Stalin To Withdraw From Paris Marshall Plan Parley

EAST-WEST GULF BEING WIDENED

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, International News Service

PARIS, July 11.—Diplomatic observers in Paris said today that the die now has been definitely, and dangerously, cast for a division of Europe into two fearful and antagonistic worlds.

Their reaction resulted from Soviet Premier Stalin's swift and forceful action in compelling Czechoslovakia to withdraw at the last moment its acceptance of an invitation to participate in the Saturday conference on the Marshall aid plan.

Seen As Ill Omen

The abrupt manner in which Stalin halted President Eduard Benes and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk to the Kremlin soon after their arrival in Moscow and forced them to instruct the Czech government by telephone to change their mind was seen as an ill omen for the future tranquility of Europe.

The text of the Czech cabinet's communiqué explaining the about-face led Paris diplomats to believe that Stalin himself told President Benes and Masaryk that Czechoslovakia's participation in the conference would be considered an "unfriendly" act toward the Soviet Union.

This is not the first time that Russia has served notice on the Czechs when they sought to exercise independent action contrary to Soviet wishes.

Similar Warning

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov delivered a similar warning to Masaryk at the San Francisco conference when the latter showed momentary reluctance to carry out the Soviet instructions in connection with the Argentine issue there.

Czechoslovakia's "compulsory" exclusion from the Paris conference came as a sharp disappointment to Foreign Minister Bidault and others who hold such high hopes for effect.

Pa Newc Observes

Finishing touches were being put on the new street sign standards in the Grant street area on Thursday afternoon, Pa Newc noted in a visit to that area. Workmen were busy at the intersection of North Diamond and Grant street installing a sign post there.

If the new world calendar passes through congress next year, starting in 1950, people of the United States will lose at least two holidays during the year. New Year's Day and Washington's birthday will always fall on Sunday. According to the new setup, it would give us a 364-day year with all holidays, birthdays and other events falling on the same day of the year. February, incidentally, would have a consistent 30-day span every year.

A new sight was noted on North Mercer street Thursday afternoon. A young lady attired in slacks was busily engaged in washing the windows of a business house. The work heretofore has been confined to the men folk.

Back in the earlier days of the city, Monday was about the only day that was set aside as family wash day. Seemingly every day in the week has been designated as wash day in numerous sections of the city now. Sunday is no exception, as a number of housewives can be detected hanging out clothes on the lines early in the morning each Sunday.

Governor Duff And Wife Leave For Salt Lake City

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—Gov. and Mrs. Duff were enroute today by train to Salt Lake City, Utah, where the chief executive will attend the three-day national governor's conference opening Monday.

The governor's party included Miss Jean Folsom, of Orlando, Fla., Mrs. Duff's 11-year-old grandniece, State Adjutant General Frank A. Weber, and State Police Privates Thomas Cullen and John Smith. Governor Duff will address the conference Monday afternoon.

Chemists Leave For Bikini Atoll For New Study

BOSTON, July 11.—(INS)—Three atomic chemists of Massachusetts Institute of Technology left today in a navy plane on a 7500-mile flight to Bikini atoll for a re-survey of the reef that was blasted by atomic bombs a year ago.

The trip will be joined by 200 other scientists and technicians who sailed from San Diego, Cal., aboard the USS Chilton, navy transport converted into a floating laboratory.

To Study Effects

Long range effects of atomic explosions are to be studied. Animals, fishes and vegetables will be examined to determine whether radioactivity change living matter.

Another problem to be solved is how long radio-activity makes water around sunken vessels untenable.

The trio leaving Boston follows: Lawrence E. Glendenin, Raymond R. Edwards, both research associates at M. I. T., and Dr. Allen M. Black of Jacksonville, Fla., who recently completed his doctorate studies. All worked on the development of the atomic bomb at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Murder Mystery At Marion, Ohio

Body Of 25-Year-Old Divorcee Is Found In Churchyard Near Ohio City

HAD APPARENTLY BEEN STRANGLED

MARION, O., July 11.—(INS)—The nearly nude body of a 25-year-old Marion divorcee was found trussed up today in a churchyard seven miles southeast of the city.

Sheriff Leroy Retterer said that the woman, Mrs. Zora Gerbes, mother of three children, apparently had been strangled to death. A piece of clothesline was tied around her neck and her legs had been bound and drawn up near her head.

Dr. E. H. Morgan, Marion county coroner, was conducting an autopsy on the body. He said that the clothesline had been wound tightly three times around the divorcee's neck and then looped around her knees, bringing the body into a jackknifed position.

He said there were indications that she had been criminally assaulted, but had not determined it definitely yet.

Body Discovered

Two brothers, Charles and Harry Yeager, discovered the body in the driveway of St. Paul's Lutheran church as they were driving past their home a mile away. When they stopped at the scene a man described as about 32 years old was sitting in an automobile and the woman's body was lying nearby.

The brothers told Retterer the man declared he and the woman had been drinking and added: "I don't know what to do with her. I guess she's dead."

Study Report Charging War Contract Frauds

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—Congressmen today studied a report by Comptroller General Lind R. Edwards, both research associates at M. I. T., and Dr. Allen M. Black of Jacksonville, Fla., who recently completed his doctorate studies. All worked on the development of the atomic bomb at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The report charged that 19 companies involved in the terminations "induced by fraud" owed the government more than $2,000,000.

He said he was working on 57 other cases in which fraud was indicated, but added that the type of audit he is permitted to make under the contract settlement act was bringing to light "only a negligible percentage" of fraud cases.

The comptroller general revealed that the cases in which he was convinced fraud was committed have been referred to the Department of Justice, but that he had no information of any action being taken on them. He outlined the cases, but did not reveal the names of the companies involved.

The 34-page report to Congress also contained charges that officers and civilian employees of the Army and Navy "feathered their nests" by favoring war contractors during the war and the termination period.

Execute Four At Sing Sing

OSSINING, N. Y., July 11.—(INS)—Sing Sing prison authorities said today that the first quadruple execution since 1939 was carried out without incident.

The four men executed were Salvatore Di Cristoforo, 35, convicted of a slaying in Buffalo; Edward Jones, 22, New York; Arnold Sims, 23, New York and William J. Thomas, 20, also of New York.

The executions began at 11:01 p. m. last night and were completed by 11:20.

Predicts Rent Control Law To Be Extended

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., author of the new rent control law, predicted today that Congress will extend rent controls again next year unless the housing situation improves.

The present rent law expires February 29, 1948.

Wolcott advised tenants who feel their landlords are not entitled to a 15 per cent rent increase to "sit tight."

He told International News Service that "if controls are necessary next year they will be continued." Wolcott explained that it was the hope of the House Banking committee, of which he is chairman, that the relaxation of controls "would encourage enough new construction so that the housing shortage can be licked."

Congress Will Speed Program In Closing Days

Two Weeks Remain Of Present Congressional Session—July 26 Is Windup

MANY MEASURES SLATED FOR ACTION

By JAMES LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, GOP policy leader, today announced a hard-driving program for the remaining two weeks of the congressional session, but ruled out action on housing and the national health bill.

The Republican plan to pack every legislative hour with action calls for Saturday sessions tomorrow and on July 26, the windup date, and probably on July 19 as well.

Taft said the program was drawn up at a meeting of the policy committee in his home last night.

Although the veterans terminal leave bill is not on the agenda, the senator explained that the measure and others may be added to it when they come out of committee.

Bills on the list for action were chosen, Taft said, "largely because we think they can be disposed of without long debate." They are:

1. President Truman's housing agency reorganization plan. Rejected by the House, it will become effective unless also disapproved by the Senate.
2. To increase subsistence for G. I. students.
3. To authorize purchase of automobiles for amputee war veterans.
4. To allow Puerto Rico to elect its governor instead of having him appointed by the U. S. president. The House passed the bill.
5. To establish a mine safety code.
6. To freeze the social security tax at existing rates. It also has House approval.
7. To establish a five-year sugar program.
8. To approve the convention for the trusteeship under the United Nations.
9. To approve U. N. site agreements.
10. To increase payments to Spanish war veterans, a House-passed measure.

Taft said that the housing program, "not necessarily" bypassed for this session, but with the deadline nearing it appeared improbable that such a controversial issue could be handled.

The chief executive's message will highlight the possible effect of new wage increases in the coal industry on the nation's general price structure.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the consensus of the meeting was that the coal pay boosts would not greatly affect the overall wage picture but added that it would be a "matter of concern" if more money for miners should cause prices to soar.

Optimistic reports on corn and wheat production were received at the cabinet session.

Young Woman Admits Killing Tavern Owner

URBANA, Ill., July 11.—(INS)—Blond, 20-year-old Betty Gruver, sneeringly admitted to Urbana police today that she shot and fatally wounded A. G. "Speed" Tilton in his combination tavern and tourist camp north of the city.

State's Attorney John Breese, who announced the confession, said the girl admitted she had shot Tilton in an unsuccessful attempt to rob him of $1,700 which he had in his possession.

Sub-Soil Tests Being Made For New Bridges

Employees of the State Highway Department County office are engaged in making sub-soil tests for the new bridge at the south-end of South Mercer street, it was reported today by Alfred Martin, County Superintendent of Highways.

Engineers of the department surveyed the site a number of weeks ago. When the bridge is erected, it will serve as a cutoff for spur route 422, which presently makes use of the South Jefferson street bridge.

At the site of the old Armstrong bridge, near the Heinz camp, engineers of the department are also making sub-soil tests today preparatory to the erection of a new bridge over the Slippery Rock. The bridge at that point has been out for two years and travel over the road has been detoured.

Says Long-Range Appropriations For Marshall Plan 'Out'

By FRANK E. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Sen. George (D) Ga., served notice today that long-range appropriations to support the Marshall plan are "out of the question at this time."

George's statement came as Secretary of State Marshall appeared before the senate foreign relations committee to give his first full-dress explanation of his "plan" for European rehabilitation.

George is a ranking member of the committee and an influential member of the senate.

His views were laid down in advance at a closed-door conference of senate Democrats, called to consider strategy on the GOP tax reduction bill.

The meeting with Marshall was arranged by Chairman Vandenberg (R) Mich., as the first in a series of liaison conferences which he said will continue on a "regular" schedule in the next session of congress.

Foreign policy leaders on capitol hill have been dissatisfied with the amount of information they have been receiving on high policy matters. To date, they have not been officially consulted on the "Marshall plan" now formally before western European countries.

George said he thought Marshall's (Continued on Page Two)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—A special House committee may place James C. Petrillo on "probation" for 60 days to determine whether the powerful musicians union chief will keep his pledge not to violate the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Rep. Keans (R) Pa., subcommittee chairman, was to confer today with Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., House Labor committee chairman and co-author of the act, before making a final decision to postpone further hearings on Petrillo's activities for the present.

Keans, before Petrillo appeared for two days of questioning earlier this week, had intended calling approximately 50 witnesses to hear (Continued on Page Two)

Truman Plans Special Message To Congress Soon

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The White House said today that President Truman within the next 10 days will send a special message to congress on the nation's economic situation, including prices, wages, food supply and employment.

The decision was made after a cabinet meeting at which Mr. Truman and his official family studied and discussed a report from the president's economic advisory council.

The chief executive's message will highlight the possible effect of new wage increases in the coal industry on the nation's general price structure.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the consensus of the meeting was that the coal pay boosts would not greatly affect the overall wage picture but added that it would be a "matter of concern" if more money for miners should cause prices to soar.

Optimistic reports on corn and wheat production were received at the cabinet session.

Hard Coal Miners Hail New Contract

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The nation's anthracite miners today hailed a new wage agreement negotiated by John L. Lewis which gives them a boost in take-home earnings of $1.20 a day.

Lewis added the Hard coal contract to his negotiating triumphs as President Truman's cabinet considered possible inflationary effects of the wage settlement for the nation's half-million anthracite and bituminous diggers.

The anthracite agreement, covering 72,000 miners, was announced in Washington by Lewis after a one-day meeting with Pennsylvania hard coal operators.

Like the bituminous pact, the settlement also doubled the industry's five-cents-a-ton contribution to the miner's welfare fund.

Files Complaint Against British Troops In Nation

Demands Immediate Removal Of All British Troops From Egypt And Sudan

CLIMAX OF LONG DISPUTE ON ISSUES (BULLETIN)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 11.—(INS)—Egypt filed a complaint today against the British government before the United Nations security council, and demanded the immediate removal of all British troops from Egyptian and Sudanese territory.

It is estimated that between 20,000 and 30,000 British troops are involved.

The Egyptian document also called for the termination of the present British regime in the Sudan and its return at once to the Egyptian government.

The Egyptian document was signed by Premier Nokrashy Pasha. It arrived last night by plane and was handed this morning to Assistant Secretary-General Ivan Kerno by Egyptian Ambassador Mahmoud Hassan Pasha.

Climax Of Long Dispute

Hassan said the presentation of the complaint is the climax of a long dispute between the Egyptian and British governments. Hassan declared:

"We have come to the United Nations for justice. The British have occupied our soil too long. Now we ask their immediate and unconditional withdrawal, not only from (Continued on Page Two)

Cabinet Scans Coal Agreements

Possible Inflationary Effects Are Being Studied By Truman's Cabinet

HARD COAL WAGE AGREEMENT MADE

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 10.—John L. Lewis added a new hard coal contract to his negotiating triumphs today as President Truman's cabinet considered the possible inflationary effect of the wage settlement for a half million miners.

Lewis announced the anthracite agreement covering 72,000 miners after a one-day meeting in Washington with Pennsylvania hard coal operators. Like the bituminous pact, it boosted the miners' take-home earnings $1.20 a day and doubled the industry's five cents a ton contribution to the miners' welfare fund.

Cabinet Concern

The Truman cabinet primary was concerned, however, with the soft coal agreement applying to 400,000 workers which operators said will boost coal prices 75 cents to $1 a ton and cause subsequent increases in steel prices.

The administration's policy-makers had before them a report from the President's economic advisory council containing a preliminary appraisal of the effects of the soft coal contract on prices, living costs and the economy in general.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the three-man council, warned that the group had only begun its study of the coal settlement. He pointed out that the wage increase actually may be "absorbed more readily than we think."

Man Ends Life This Morning

Carl Layton, Of Carson Street, Takes Life In Home Of Friend On Beaver Street

Carl Layton, aged 33 years, of 929 West Carson street, ended his life about 7:35 o'clock this morning, by firing a bullet from a 32 calibre revolver into his right temple, in the bathroom at the home of a friend, William Riley, of 6 North Beaver street, according to the report of police and Deputy Coroner Charles E. Allen, who investigated the circumstances.

Acting Sergeant R. A. Criswell, in response to a telephoned alarm at 7:37, sent Officers Hillers and Reese to the scene and also summoned Deputy Coroner Allen.

Arrived At 4 A. M. According to Mr. Riley, Layton came to his home about 4 o'clock this morning, stating that he had been out fishing, and asked if he could spend the balance of the night there. About 7 o'clock Layton went to the bathroom, and Riley started to get dressed. He noticed that his revolver was missing from the dresser. He called to Layton who answered, "I will be out in a minute, I'm all right." Just as he reached his room, he heard the report of the gun.

Harry Ross, who resides at 6 North Beaver street, from whom Riley rents a room, forced open the bathroom door and found Layton's body. Layton is said to have been acting a little peculiarly of late, but according to Mr. Riley seemed in good condition when he came to his home this morning.

Mr. Layton was the son of John V. Layton, and the late Mary Reed Layton. He was a member of the First Christian church.

In addition to his father, John V. Layton, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Clair Mitchell; and a brother, Paul G. Layton, all of this city.

The body is at the A. Darrell Burke funeral home, North Jefferson street. Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

Bulgaria Hits Balkan Border U. S. Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 11.—(TNS)—Bulgaria vigorously opposed before the United Nations Security Council today the American proposal calling for the establishment of a semi-permanent Balkan border commission to maintain peace along Greece's northern frontiers.

Dr. Nissim Mevorah, the Bulgarian spokesman, declared the U. S. proposal was contrary to the U. N. charter, was unnecessary, "and even dangerous." He said a Balkan commission would do more harm than good.

He charged that the U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin had resorted to "intimidation" by suggesting it might be necessary to use force to settle the Greek case if peaceful methods fail.

Austin had insisted, however, that an attempt should be first made to create a U. N. border patrol for Greece.

Mevorah said the "intimidations of Mr. Austin" were based on the presumption, which he called false, that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania had admitted their guilt in fomenting guerrilla warfare against Greece.

Test Good Faith

Rep. Nixon (R) Calif., a committee member, observed that a post-ponement would enable the committee to determine whether Petrillo "would show good faith" in observing his promises to abide by both the new labor law and the Leat act restraining his labor practices.

Nixon explained that Petrillo had anticipated most of the objections and complaints which the committee had compiled and had "frankly admitted" having been guilty of them in the past.

At the same time, Nixon pointed out that the musicians leader had contended he intended halting the practices to avoid violating the law.

the Suez Canal Zone area but also from the Sudan, and all of the Nile valley.

"We insist the British administration of Sudan be terminated and that this territory be returned to the mother country."

He said Premier Nokrashy Pasha will come to Lake Success next week to take charge of the prosecution of the complaint before the security council.

The Egyptian complaint contends that the British position in Egypt has caused a situation likely to become a menace to world peace.

The action of Egypt marks the fourth case in which the British are heavily involved before the U. N. The others Palestine, in which a settlement is asked for before the General Assembly; Greece, in which Russia has demanded removal of British troops and other foreign military personnel, and Albania, against which the British have filed charges before the international court of justice alleging guilt in the sinking of two British ships.

A spokesman for Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate to the U. N., declared Britain is prepared to put in a full defense to the Egyptian complaint.

reached the scene the man had disappeared. A state-wide search was launched immediately for him.

Mrs. Gerbes was clad only in a short suit jacket when her body was found. The rest of her clothing had been thrown over a fence about 50 feet away.

The sheriff said that there were no signs of a struggle at the scene and that apparently she had been slain elsewhere and her body dumped in the churchyard.

Tracing of the woman's movements last night disclosed that she had been seen visiting several bars early in the evening, but witnesses said she was alone. However, Retter said, he has not been able to determine where she was after 11 p. m.

Mrs. Gerbes, who had been divorced about three years, is survived by her three children, Kenneth Lee, six, Dinah Frances, four, and Judy Kay, 2½.

But he said the original state department idea of a long-term commitment of American financial aid—estimated by administration spokesmen at four or five billion dollars a year for perhaps five years—would not get congressional support.

George declared:

"We may meet the total expenditures eventually but it is a different thing to commit this country in advance. We simply can't go beyond annual appropriations."

The fact that Czechoslovakia will not be among the European nations which have agreed to help one another as part of America's aid to Europe has a very direct interest for the United States.

It is likely to mean that Uncle Sam will be asked for more dollars or credit than otherwise might have been the case.

States Resumes Publication Of Industry Data

First Postwar Issue Lists Industries By Counties And Classifications

HARRISBURG—The Department of Internal Affairs is now ready to distribute the 11th edition of the Pennsylvania Industrial Directory, Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., announces.

This book, the first of its kind since Pennsylvania industry recon-verted from war to peace time production, embraces nearly one thousand pages and lists industries both by counties and by classification.

"The Industrial Directory is the only official list of Pennsylvania's productive enterprises," said Secretary Livengood, "and carries the story of the commonwealth's great manufacturing, mining and quarrying business to the world at large as it is told in no other way. It is widely used, not only in this country but abroad, both by those who seek to buy in a favorable market, and also by those who seek to sell their products in Pennsylvania."

Publication was discontinued during the recent war as a protection against sabotage and this edition was held up since last autumn by reason of printing difficulties. The price, four dollars, is just twice that of the 10th edition, due to cost increases all along the line, which include only the expense of white paper and printing, the law requiring the compilation of the necessary statistics.

Recently there have been inquiries for the book from England, India, China and many other countries.

WATER STOPS 'KNOCKING' CHICAGO—(TNS)—New automobiles soon may be equipped with a device that eliminates engine knock by injecting a thin stream of water into the gasoline mixture when the engine is accelerated. Edward F. Obert, associate professor of mechanical engineering at Northwestern University, revealed that studies and tests he has directed over the last six years show that such water injections into the engine cylinders eliminate "objectionable noise and knocking."

PICKSTOWN, U. S. A.—(TNS)—There is a new postmark in the mails today. The new town at the site of the Fort Randall dam project has a postoffice to handle the huge volume of mail expected when workers move in and construction gets under way. Walter Lindquist is postmaster of the infant boomtown on the Missouri river.

NOW FOR THE SESQUI-CENTENNIAL

The action of the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion in arranging to boost a sesqui-centennial celebration in New Castle in 1948 is to be commended.

It means a lot of work for the Legion but nothing to get frightened about. Back in 1925 the post sponsored the Centennial anniversary of the organization of New Castle as a borough. The job was well done. Thousands of people were attracted to New Castle, there were free street shows, concessions, band concerts and a general holiday air for a week that was a lot of fun.

The sesqui-centennial will mark the 150 anniversary of the founding of the little settlement known as New Castle by John Carlyle Stewart.

It is a good idea. It will provide a week's entertainment, bring people into the city, and give all a chance to take our hair down, colloquially speaking.

Every citizen, every organization should be interested in the sesqui.

The chairman, Chester C. Sweesy is a citizen with a record of getting things done. He will get this job done too, but it will make it much easier if all lend a hand.

THE PATIENT TAXPAYER

For months the papers of the United States have printed much on the subject of economizing on the nation's expenditures. This crusade is headed by the Republican lawmakers and a minority of the Democrats. The attempt to reduce the enormous amount squandered by the government is a laudable undertaking. Taxes, as they now stand, are the most burdensome in history. Everything and everybody are loaded down with taxes and the people are wondering whether there is some method of reduction which will stick.

This is but a natural revulsion of feeling against the lavish and often unwise expenditures that prevailed during the war period. The cost of the war could have been kept to a more reasonable figure had the spenders not been in power.

With interest on billions to pay and with governmental operations now costing much more than before, with the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan a huge question mark in finances and with a desire to give the taxpayer promised relief, the leaders of Congress are confounded as to methods to meet their obligations and their promises.

Congress expended a great deal of time, labor and money in preparing a tax reduction bill which was passed by the House of Representatives and Senate and vetoed by the President.

Now Congress is tossing the bill right back into the President's lap, to become effective January 1, 1948. It is to be hoped that this time Congress will do its duty and pass it over Truman's veto.

LUXURY OR NECESSITY?

Representatives of nations where there is no freedom of the press and where the people enjoy no privileges of personal liberty have often remarked that the American system of individual freedom is a luxury only a rich nation may afford. This is a flimsy excuse for the brutalities of dictatorship. But would we be so different from these other nations which are bogging back into the dark ages, if we were hard pressed by economic chaos? Not if we are to listen to some of our most notable, self-styled liberals who claim with fearful urgency that should another depression descend upon America, she too would abandon the "luxury" of freedom. Some of them would even jump the gun by setting up a planned state now—fixing prices, rigging supply and demand to artificial standards, controlling production, and in effect, establishing government as a spurious God.

When this country was founded, the going was tough. Freedom was the first goal of life. It was not achieved easily. The privilege of going to the church of one's choice was not considered a luxury, nor were ownership of property and the right of assembly and free speech. These things were as vital as air. To infer, no matter how indirectly, that they have become luxuries at a time when millions of people over the whole world are looking to the United States to keep alight the torch of civilization, is inexcusable.

Very likely there will be depressions in this country in the future, as in the past. They can either be short pauses in the march forward of a great nation—or any one of them can be the jumping-off point for state socialism and the subjugation of the people. It will depend upon our point of view—whether our freedom is a luxury or a necessity.

An amnesia victim in Vermont says he doesn't know where he is. This, an Oklahoma paper says, is the best excuse it ever heard for being in Vermont.

An optimist is a guy who dares to eat blackberry pie while wearing an ice cream suit.

Having been assured that education pays, college grads are now trying to find out where and when.

Hints On Etiquette

It is not good manners to try to dominate every conversation, no matter how bright and witty you may be. It makes you appear a "showoff," and no one is especially attracted to such a one.

Army Scans Deficit In Manpower

WASHINGTON, July 11.—War department planners are trying to figure out what the Army's deficit in manpower will be in view of the likelihood that Congress will go home without doing anything about universal military training.

It is a question of piling down here and cutting there in an effort to make do with the men who will be available. The Army has estimated that 1,070,000 men will be needed, during the coming twelve months, as a minimum for the occupation of Germany and Japan and the other far-flung commitments of our foreign policy.

The latest figures show that voluntary recruiting will fail to meet this minimum by from 100,000 to 150,000 men. This is not nearly as large a deficit as had been originally feared.

More Successful
Voluntary recruiting has been more successful than early pessimistic Army estimates indicated. It was up to schedule last month and it is expected to run close to the desired monthly goal during the summer.

Army planners are particularly pleased with this showing at a time when employment is at probably the highest level in the nation's history. Even the smallest recession would immediately step up the number of young men voluntarily enlisting. A bill recently passed by Congress offers better inducements for long-range careers in the Army, and the hope is that it will give new impetus to the recruiting drive.

This, however, just about covers the credit side of the Army's ledger. High officials, both civilian and military, are pessimistic on the score of the very narrow margin on which their planning is based. Set against this margin, a deficit (Continued on Page Five)

Health Talks

Dish washing is a very important procedure. It is important in the home. It is more so in a public eating place.

In our eating places, dish washing is subject to frequent inspection. Dishes and silverware are first washed. Then they are sterilized either by heat or chemicals.

Laboratory tests are made to find out whether the process has been satisfactory.

Sometimes the dishes are washed by hand, sometimes by machine. Either way the results must be the same.

Regulations are very strict as to sanitation of public eating and drinking places.

Glasses, dishes and silver must be clean and sanitary.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ANTICIPATE A CHILD'S DANGER

In the house, in the garden, on the farm or elsewhere the child may accidentally break something. The youth early in the teens may be especially awkward, easily falling over things, falling with them or dropping them.

We parents are prone to be angry over such accidents, our anger increasing with the damage done. As a rule, the damage done should have nothing to do with our response to the accident. We need to put ourselves in our imagination in the child's place and consider if the same might have happened to us. We should tell him to stop and punish him with carelessness seems very unfair to him. It may still be worse to ridicule him for his awkwardness, causing him to suppose he never can be otherwise.

Foresee Danger

With our more matured experience we can foresee dangers he does not foresee, which with sufficient skill we may lead the child to discern so he may exercise more caution. Just to say, "Be careful" may not suffice. He may suppose he has been careful.

There may be times when we should require a certain type of caution from him, making very clear what we mean. If, for instance, he is tipping a glass for fun at the table we should do more than warn him of the danger of dropping it. We should tell him to stop and punish him effectively if he does not do so at once, whether he dropped it or not. To allow a child to continue at some act you know is dangerous to him or some article of property and then punish him if he is hurt or does damage to the article is unjust. It's like punishing a tot for falling into a puddle after you had warned her to be careful lest she fall in. This is punishment for hard luck.

Rushing About Indoors
Then there is the child who habitually rushes about indoors, pretty sure to bump into something or somebody. Train this child not to romp indoors.

A certain mother writes of her son eight: "He is always trying to do something he is not able to do; he won't wait and is always breaking something." She should name definitely the few things he must not undertake and hold to it with finality. She's too talkative. Another mother writes of her son who when visiting will explore and sometimes break them. It is obvious that he needs to be told what he may or may not handle while a guest. Then if he had learned to respect "No" and "Don't" at home the problem would be simple.

Many a child has accidents to himself and to property because he is too excited to move about with caution. He may be a very "nervous" child, who needs a program of more rest and quiet. Constructive (Continued on Page Five)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

No one or any one means can talk too much about safety . . . on the road safety especially. Maybe a word or thought here and there will stick to a mind when the owner of that mind goes for a ride or takes a motor trip . . . The young mind soon forgets all warning talks . . . especially when the gang is along and everyone is having fun going from one dance to another . . . or just cruising along the road on a summer evening.

The older driver sometimes lets his mind drift from the driving job to something else that is pressing . . . no not nearly as pressing as driving a powerful death machine like today's motor car. All these words will soon be forgotten by most folks . . . but if only one life is saved we will feel well repaid . . . and in order to give you a little rhythm to keep rolling over the tongue we present the following words as written by John Weyer:

Vacation time is here again

TAKE IT EASY.

Remember our motto, and then,

TAKE IT EASY.

Traffic will be heavy wherever you go.

Remember it always pays to drive slow.

If you speed, the pedestrian won't have a show

TAKE IT EASY.

Many new cars are on the highway this year

TAKE IT EASY.

Scores of drivers don't know the meaning of fear,

TAKE IT EASY.

The A. A. officials know that danger lies ahead.

They must cut down accidents, save lives instead.

For a person isn't worth much after their dead,

TAKE IT EASY.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Park Avenue in New York, as you know, is a very fashionable street, and the Central Presbyterian church on that street is a very fashionable church.

It was quite fit, therefore, that the pastor of that church, in a recent sermon, should have chosen as his theme the subject of humility.

"We have a queer notion," said Dr. T. C. Speers, the pastor, "that humble people are people who are unaware of their significance, but the very opposite is true."

"People who are not sure of themselves look for assurance in certain outward signs and symbols. They must live on a certain street. They must wear certain clothes. Where they sit in a public assembly, who speaks to them and who does not dare speak to them are matters of utmost importance. To achieve humility, one of the highly prized qualities of character, we must be able to believe in ourselves and have a sense of assurance about our own worth."

"We must discover that no task or duty can possibly demean us."

I was not at the church when Dr. Speers delivered his sermon. But I am told, by someone who was, that quite a few of his parishioners wringed in their seats as if he had meant them, and that others tried very hard to look unconcerned but seemed to feel rather uncomfortable.

Congress still is trying to stop Petrillo but Jimmy makes a good case for his leadership.

He cites the example of one member who now gets 59 thousand a year . . . and up until 1944 the union also paid Jimmy's income tax.

Mr. Truman is neutral in the situation . . . Torn between the presidency and the piano.

But it's just unfortunate that the flying saucers had to turn up in Truman's administration . . . It could have happened to Hoover.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A fellow I knew did that very thing all his life because his wife wanted to be the grande dame of her circle.

His Tuesday was on constant night duty and his bank account suffered from pernicious anemia.

He was a good egg and would have liked to wear old clothes and slippers and smoke his smelly pipe.

But his wife wouldn't let him. "The Joneses did it, so they had to do it, too."

Last week he dropped dead. His heart had given up the struggle.

Yesterday they buried him—and not even in the best part of the cemetery.

But, fortunately for his ambitious widow, the fellow who lies next to him was named Jones.

Good Taste

ROMANCE BY CORRESPONDENCE

"I am a woman thirty-five years old who has been married twice—the first ending in divorce, the second in a very happy one, by death ten months ago. For the past three months, I have been corresponding with a young man five years my junior, who lives a thousand miles away. I have never met him. We were introduced by correspondence. He wants to visit my home but I hesitate because of the short time since my husband's death and the possibility of gossip that might follow his visit. He and his mother now suggest that I visit his home town. If I do, I would, of course, stay at a hotel. Will you please advise me whether or not you think I should go."

Answer: Far be it from me to clip the wings of love or to detour the course of true romance. I certainly believe in finding ourselves in difficulty and even tragedy by just such affairs that I advise you to step cautiously. You say you do not know the man, that your friendship grew from correspondence. Then I say—don't go a thousand miles to visit him. It would, indeed, be a hazardous trip. Really you don't know whether he has a mother of whether she is a figment of his imagination—a come-on to make you believe everything is conventional. Of course, the man may be sincere and honorable, but that's something we must prove when we associate with distant strangers.

If you have any way of checking his background and his present status, I should suggest your doing so. I should suggest your doing so before becoming involved further. If you discover that he is sincere and truthful and to your liking, you might invite him to visit you, bringing his mother along, rather than travel to visit him. Disregard the neighbors' reactions. It is really none of their business.

It is always wise to be skeptical about strangers. Many women have found ideal mates through correspondence but every once in a while we hear of tragedy resulting from just such meetings. It is better to be on the safe side and know your man before becoming too involved with him.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Industry Catching Up With Goods Shortages
Hot Tip or Tipplers: Scotch Price May Drop
Cellophane and Food Marketing Problem

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON, July 11.—The speed with which American industry is working to catch up with war-inspired deficiencies is clearly evident in government reports, which show about 10 billion dollars have been added to the book-value of business inventories since the middle of 1946. The increase reflects both lighter costs and greater physical stocks. Business inventories, however, are reported still below pre-war levels in relation to sales.

Inadequate stocks in some areas are said to more than offset a few surpluses elsewhere.

The Commerce department adds that the present almost-feverish attempt to fill the gap in supplies cannot be expected to continue long because remaining deficiencies are, in general, much less urgent than a few months ago.

SCOTCH TO GO DOWN?—Scotch whisky prices are due for a tumble. Much of the impending decline is traceable to the recent arrival of 2,500,000 fifths from Great Britain.

Prices already had dropped from $10 to $12 last Christmas to $6 and under—due principally to consumer resistance—but the new shipment held out the prospect of further reductions.

To make the prediction stick, Great Britain said that it planned to step up its Scotch production to obtain more American dollars for badly needed foreign exchange.

Another factor was the plight of many liquor dealers who were caught with high-priced Scotch and now find the market about to be glutted with new supplies.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR is not only worried about the high cost of living but this storm warnings of an economic collapse.

In a survey of economic trends the AFL bluntly charges that "cheerful news from the business front today obscures what is actually happening." It contends that despite an all-time peak in employment and the fact that the country is still riding the crest of the prosperity wave there are signs of trouble ahead.

The labor organization says that an analysis shows that the boom is being carried along by huge exports and by expanding use of consumer credit. It declares:

"Losing prosperity with high levels of employment and production depends on a huge demand for industry's products. Such demand must be supported by something more than loans to nations abroad and to consumers at home."

"Yet this year almost half of the 19 billion dollars' worth of exports our country will send abroad will be paid for by United States loans to foreign countries. And at home American consumers are already borrowing three billions more than last year to pay for their purchases—an increase of 44 per cent."

VITAMINS TO SET PRICES—The Agriculture department predicts that vegetables and meats will be priced not by the pound but by their nutritive value, if markets continue to develop the transparent packaging of food.

Agriculture points out that in this type of packaging, vegetables are given a preliminary cleaning and sorting. Damaged ones generally come to light and are discarded. Meats are trimmed.

The department argues that, therefore, one pound of string beans in cellophane may well be worth two pounds in bulk. It predicts that the next step will be pricing that takes this greater volume into consideration.

Agriculture, which long has had an eye for attractive packaging of foods, says that this labeling of transparently-wrapped foods may step up quality.

It argues that wholesalers and distributors will have pride to uphold and thus handle the foods with more care.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

By J. C. OESTREICHER
A young Greek prince who renounced all titles of nobility, and an even younger English princess who one day will be queen of the British Isles and the dominions beyond the seas, occupied attention of a troubled world today and political implications intruded themselves unavoidably.

It was a romance, of course, and the principals were Princess Elizabeth, destined one day to occupy Great Britain's throne, and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten of his majesty's royal navy, once a possible claimant to the uneasy throne of Greece.

Something Unique
As a preliminary to the new official announced betrothal Philip accomplished something unique in the annals of heraldry. He relinquished a royal title to assume a so-called "commoner's" name. But the exchange actually worked out to his very great benefit.

Philip's own royal line, appointed by long-past kings of Europe to rule the roost at the Hellenic place in Athens bore the not too prepossessing name of "Glücksberg." It was an off-shoot line of the Hohenzollern dynasty and only by merging with the resplendent house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha did the family overcome its initial handicaps.

When Elizabeth gave her consent to marry Philip he adopted British nationality and was adopted placed for acquisition of a new name. He simply took that of his mother, Princess Alice of Battenberg, and became Philip Mountbatten, a cousin and counterpart in some respects of the distinguished present viceroy of India.

Coincidental Chapter
It is just a coincidental chapter in the pages of history that the elder Mountbatten happens to be the man responsible for making the future Queen Elizabeth's royal title less resounding than it was in ages past.

She will not be "Empress of India" as her great predecessor Victoria was, for this appellation goes out of existence on August 15 with creation of an independent India.

But Mountbatten will get a new designation of his in keeping with his place as consort to a future queen.

Some reports say that King George will invest him with his own former title—that of Duke of York. Should this be the case, the monarch will restore to British heraldry a now vacant dukedom that goes back to the fourteenth century. The first holder, incidentally, was a fighting man who led expeditions into France and Spain and wound up by marrying a Spanish Princess Isabel whose father boasted the hair-curling name of "Pedro the Cruel."

London dispatches, however, indicated that one of two extinct royal dukedoms—Clarence or Cambridge—would be revived for the sake of Philip's new nomenclature.

Both are ancient as only English lineage can be. And both are associated in name with long-forgotten wars and domestic strife, from the time of Robin Hood clear up to the Crimean campaign before the turn of the century. In the light of present Greek and Balkan difficulties, Lieut. Mountbatten does not have a too happy choice of names for his future status on a Buckingham palace throne.

CALLING

of 100,000 to 150,000 men looks very large.

The only reserves the Army has are two divisions, one of which is not up to full strength. An infantry division, it is at about 85 per cent of strength. The other one, an airborne division, is virtually at full strength. This means under 30,000 men in reserve for any emergency that might arise.

150,000 In Europe

About 150,000 American comprise our army of occupation in Germany and Austria. The total for Japan and Korea is 250,000. The necessity for constant replacements, who must be trained and transported across great distances, commits large additional numbers of men.

That is one reason why the opinion is growing within the War department that our occupation force in Japan should be cut to a skeleton police force. Gen. Douglas MacArthur has long been advocating this. It was behind his recent statement urging an early peace settlement with the Japanese.

Some officials, and among them are important policy-makers, go so far as to say that we should pull out of Korea entirely. They argue that, while the Russians would take over, the difficulties of the Soviet position in Korea, in view of the fierce conflicts rendering that unhappy country, would be such as to give them slight advantage.

Would Save 200,000

Pulling out of Korea and leaving merely a police force in Japan, the Army would save upwards of 200,000 men. This would make it possible to balance the manpower books on the basis of voluntary recruiting and add something to the reserve at the same time. The story in Korea is a perpetual wrangle with the Russians, plus the difficulties that our occupation has encountered with ardent Korean Nationalists now freed from years of cruel oppression under the Japanese.

It is, of course, not a foregone conclusion that Congress will put aside the universal training proposal. There is a chance that it will pass the House. But by his stump speech denouncing the training program, Sen. Robert A. Taft, the Republican leader, made it virtually certain that the measure would not come up for a vote in the Senate.

The men responsible for our military establishment pin their hopes on the fact that, in public-opinion polls, sentiment for military training has been steadily rising. In the latest poll, about 71 per cent of all persons asked said they favored the universal training program.

But the organized lobby against it is both articulate and influential. Their weakness is that they rarely talk about constructive alternatives which might help to keep the nation strong in a time of troubled uncertainty. This list is the ever-present worry of responsible men in the War department.

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

They're tearing down a little one story building on East Washington Street near the WNY&P railroad tracks. It hasn't been a good looking building for many years but there was a time when it had a place in the legal world.

Back in 1895 when Judge Aaron L. Hazen left the bench he opened law offices in the little building and over the years a number of young men studied law with him. One husky youngster who took up the practice of law later became judge of the county, James A. Chambers. Another young man who went into the Hazen office after he was admitted was R. Lawrence Hildebrand who also went on to become judge.

Other attorneys who studied law with Judge Hazen were Roy W. Hazen, John P. Lockhart and Clyde Gibson.

Judge Hazen was elected to the position along with Judge McMichael when Lawrence and Butler Counties were on judicial district. When Lawrence was made into the 53rd judicial district, Judge McMichael decided to stay in Butler and Judge Hazen took the Lawrence County bench.

In 1894 Judge William D. Wallace was elected, the first man to be elected as judge of Lawrence County as a separate judicial district.

State Will Bear
Full Share Of Airport Plans

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—The State Aeronautics Commission today predicted Pennsylvania would be able to bear its full share of the national airport development program despite a drastic cut in the state appropriation.

Secretary William L. Anderson said that the commission would merely "slow up" its plan for local airport development during the next two years due to Gov. James H. Ruff's action in slashing $1,500,000 from airport funds. The General Assembly had recommended an allocation of $2,500,000.

Anderson said the appropriation cut would have the same effect as the federal government's reduction in funds for carrying out the nationwide airport construction program.

Explaining that congress reduced its appropriation by more than 50 per cent, Anderson said "the cut in the state grant makes Pennsylvania's share proportionate to the federal government's in the program."

"It means merely that it will take us a little longer to complete our program than we contemplated. We just won't be able to do quite as much construction as we had hoped during the next two years," he declared.

Anderson explained that at present the state was aiding 27 municipalities in a 10-year airport building program. The federal government was committed to carry half of the cost, burden, the state one-fourth and the city one-fourth, he said.

Airfields planned by participating municipalities were only in the survey and planning stage.

Progressive Girl
Scout Program
At Cascade Park

A progressive program for the girl scouts is under way at Cascade park under the auspices of Day camp. Five swimming classes are held each morning, with Miss Helen McQueen, swimming director in charge.

A rather unique "doll" has added interest to the swimming classes. The doll is filled with stones, and everybody knows that stones won't float. So when poor Miss Doll is thrown to the bottom of a five-foot pool, someone must "rescue" her, and it requires daring and bravado for the youngsters to dive to the bottom and drag out the water-logged doll.

Brownies and Wishing Ring groups had "cook-outs" for their Wednesday dinner, and the Brownies proudly reported that Lindy, their counselor, had used only one match to build the fire.

About an hour later, little girls with spaghetti marred faces were tracking down the Bab-O and Old Dutch.

"We burned the pans," one little girl smiled sheepishly. Achery classes are improving too. Some of the arrows actually hit the target now.

Early Break In
Actress Slaying
Case Indicated

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS)—Questioning of more than 150 cafe society friends of slain Mrs. Sheila Mannerling, blonde actress who was strangled in her New York apartment, brought a statement today that an "early break" is expected in the kiss and kill case.

Assistant District Attorney Anthony J. Liebler, who said he expected the "break" said three men, who had given conflicting stories of their activities, were being held. The New York Journal-American quoted "a high police official" as stating that the strangler of Mrs. Mannerling is known.

The paper quoted the official as stating: "We have plenty of reasons to believe this man did it. But we want to get further corroboration before making any more definite statement."

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—(INS)—George "Gabby" Haynes has no intention of retiring from the screen, but he does think it is time he passed something on to cinematic posterity.

To this end he is going to organize an informal sort of drama school to teach juvenile actors all he knows.

His first student is Gary Gray, nine, and very capable, who is playing Gabby's grandson in "Return to the Badmen," RKO's big historical western.

Said Gabby: "I want to start with the youngsters, because the tragedy of this business is that too many people don't learn much until they're too old. The trial and error method in learning acting takes too much time."

A kid can learn principles that will keep him on the right track even when he's a grown-up ham, or an old codger like me."

Typical of Gabby's instruction to Gary was when the youngster was competing for the role.

"They want you to look like my grandson, Anne Jeffrey's little brother, Jacqueline White's son and the son of a photo of your dead father," Gabby told Gary. "Well, you can't look just like all of us, nobody can do that."

So Gary learned to knit his brows like Miss Jeffreys, hitch his pants like Gabby, give folks a straight level glance like Miss Waite, and hold his head slightly on one side, like his "father" in the photograph.

Another child actor was chosen first, and actually worked in the picture a day because he chanced to resemble his "relatives" in the picture remarkably well. But he wasn't quite the actor required. Then Gary had his chance, and made good by a wide margin.

"That's only the beginning of what I'm going to teach him," Gabby said. "I know all the tricks, and he's old enough to learn."

Gary, so far, is Gabby's only student but there will be others as the veteran actor gradually locates them.

Your reporter has just had a talk with Alice White who, back in the late 1920's was the Lana Turner of her day.

Alice, who hasn't appeared in a movie in almost ten years, is making a comeback in the Bill and Jimmy

Cagney picture, "The Time of Your Life."

Just before the talking picture came into being, Alice was a distinct threat to Clara Bow. In fact, she was once offered a contract at Paramount, Clara's home lot at the time. Alice didn't sign with Paramount, and she and Clara became good friends.

Alice is now married to a screen writer at Paramount and is using her bit in "Time of Your Life" as a test to see for herself if she can make a permanent comeback.

Your reporter watched her go through a couple of lines with Jimmy Cagney who was still in vaudeville at the peak of Alice's career on the old First National lot. Jimmy congratulated her after she had made the scene.

"That was hot stuff," he said. "Ho! stuff, nothing," said Alice. "That was flaming youth!"

Stunt Night At Camp Eastbrook

Each Cabin Occupants Portray
Some Sort Of Act In Program Of Stunts

Stunt night at Camp Eastbrook proved the talent and originality of the campers. There are five cabins of occupants at the camp and each cabin portrayed some sort of act. Cabin 1 broadcast an "It pays to be ignorant" program, complete with a broomstick microphone, announcer, and even radio commercials. Prizes included tickets to go swimming at Camp Eastbrook, boxes of peanuts (which turned out to be stones) and other equally useless objects.

Cabin 2 portrayed various still life objects. The girls were dressed in white shirts and shorts, and carried flashlights covered with colored crepe paper. The audience reported it was very effective.

Cabin 3 presented a humorous playlet, and Cabin 4 did a pantomime, "Behind the scenes", which consisted of shadows behind a sheet. The audience was horrified when they saw what they believed to be one of their beloved counselors having her head amputated. It didn't turn out to be quite that serious though.

Cabin 5 showed its inhabitants dressed in the costumes of different countries.

Stunt night was pronounced a huge success, and the girls are looking forward to a camp hunt on Friday night. Cairn is a Scotch word for can, so probably anyone who is thoroughly Irish will refuse to join in this escapade... maybe!

Combes New Cage Coach At Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 11.—Harry Combes, former University of Illinois basketball star and a highly successful cage coach at Champaign senior high school, has been named head basketball coach at his alma mater, Douglas R. Mills director of athletics announced today.

Combes succeeds Mills who has retired from coaching after 11 years to devote full time to administrative work. Mills has been director of athletics since 1942.

Appointment of Combes brings to the Illinois basketball post one of the most prominent high school coaches of the state. Combes went to Champaign high school immediately following graduation from Illinois in 1937 as assistant in both basketball and football and head baseball coach.

REPORT HEN HAS LAID 1,014 EGGS

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—If machines could produce eggs they'd have a hard time beating the record set by a five-year-old hen entered in the 16th annual Pennsylvania egg-laying contest.

A barred Plymouth Rock, owned by Fuzzydale Farms, in Chester county, has produced 1,014 eggs in her lifetime.

E. J. Lawless, Jr., agricultural department official in charge of the contest, reported that the six-pound hen has averaged more than 200 eggs a year and is still going strong. He predicted the hen will have set a new record by the time the contest ends September 23.

The first organized women's police force was formed in Adelaide, South Australia, in 1915. It comprised two women. Within 12 months Tasmania followed its lead, and New South Wales and Victoria followed soon afterward. Some years later inquiries were received from New York and Scotland Yard, and it is claimed that their women police forces were modeled on the South Australia system.

Actress' Murder Case Solution Still Baffling

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS)—Police today had disposed of most of the names provided by the six address books of Mrs. Sheila Manning, former actress found strangled Tuesday, but they admitted having no solution to the murder.

Two men, apparently on intimate terms with the actress, were released yesterday by the office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan after the police were about to arrest them. One of these, Jacob Rosen, told police that he had known the actress for 17 years and said he had dined with her Sunday and Monday night. He denied having seen her on Tuesday the day of the murder.

Make Dental Work Impressions
Police said wax impressions are being made of Rosen's dental work to determine whether they match the teeth marks on a cigar found in the victim's apartment and similar marks on the victim's arm.

Released at the same time was Jack Levy whom detectives said admitted having been the companion of Mrs. Manning, but denied all knowledge of the slaying.

Police said there were still at least 200 names to be checked from the blonde actress' address books. Inspector Michael Ludden announced that police had found a safe deposit box belonging to the victim which contained several thousand dollars in cash, an undisclosed amount of war bonds and a costly watch. Also discovered by police was a $2,000 life insurance policy issued to Elizabeth Callahan, said to be Mrs. Manning's maiden name.

Police became suspicious of Rosen, who told a conflicting story of his whereabouts on Monday and Tuesday. He admitted that the several pairs of underclothes and collars found in Mrs. Manning's closet belonged to him.

However, a business associate cleared Rosen when he told police that Rosen had lunch with him at the time the murder was supposed to have occurred.

Rubinoff Fails To Meet Mother

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Dave Rubinoff was in Pittsburgh today to deny charges he had obtained a deed to his partly-blind mother's home by trickery, but 85-year-old Mrs. Libbie Rubinoff was not at home when he arrived.

The famed violinist and his wife, Mertice, flew into Pittsburgh last night and went directly to his mother's home. There he was informed she had gone to the home of Dave's brother, Philip.

Rubinoff was informed from his brother's home that his mother said: "I do not wish to see Dave now. Perhaps later."

Pool Knowledge To Identify Old Italian Artwork

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—A dentist, a French professor, a minister, and the British Museum teamed up to help identify an old brass medal, dug out of the mud 40 years ago, as the work of a 15th century Italian sculptor commemorating the election of a countryman to the British Order of the Garter in 1474.

Reverend Clarence E. Macartney, a Pittsburgh minister, had a dentist make a plaster cast of the medal owned by a local woman. The cast was sent to the British Museum which discovered that the work was done by Pietro Di Antonio Torregiani.

Dr. Macartney then took the medal, four and one-half inches high and weighing more than a pound, to a professor of French at the University of Pittsburgh who translated the inscription, "Shamed Be He Who Thinks Ill of It," the motto of the Order of the Garter.

Will Inaugurate Something Novel In Wire Messages

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—(INS)—With the installation of $2,000,000 worth of push-button equipment, Philadelphia Western Union is about to inaugurate something new in telegraph transmission.

Messages arriving in Philadelphia are now rushed to operators by girls on roller skates. The operator then punches the message on a machine with a typewriter keyboard.

When the push-button system begins operation incoming messages will be automatically transmitted to their destinations by merely touching a button.

A perforated tape will operate a receiving machine in some distant part of the nation and the clerk in the Western Union office here will merely touch a button to set the apparatus in motion.

U. S. SERVICE AIDS STRICKEN CHINESE PATIENTS

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—(INS)—A friends service unit in Hanoi Province, China, reports successful treatment to more than 90 per cent of three thousand patients who were stricken with kala-azar, tropical disease, during the last twelve months.

Dr. Charles K. McDonald and twelve layman assistants operating mobile clinics with supplies furnished by the American Red Cross traveled into areas along the Yellow river and treated victims of the disease with a drug named neostam.

Kala-azar is spread by the bite of a sand fly. It strikes at children between six and twelve and without treatment is fatal to 96 per cent of those stricken.

RECORD DELIVERIES HALTED
PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Half-a-million records could have been broken in Pittsburgh in the past month. That is, if they were ever delivered.

For dealers estimate there have been that many of the musical platters held up by the current teamsters strike in Pittsburgh. The shortage has been equally tough on both long hairs and jitterbugs, although the five disks could be counted a greater loss because they are shorter lived.

COLLECTS METAL
CHILLICOTHE, Mo.—(INS)—Joe Lightner of Chillicothe had pain in his right foot. He noticed a skin bulge on the bottom of the foot, and cut it with his pocketknife. Out came a three-quarter inch piece of metal. Lightner recalled that he suffered a leg wound in Germany during the war. He said: "I guess a piece of shrapnel had entered my leg just worked itself to the bottom of my foot."

Criticism Of New Tax Law

New Soft Drink Tax Law
Facing Constitutionality
Test In State

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—The state justice department has been subjected to severe criticism from legal experts throughout the state since the enactment of the soft drinks tax now undergoing a test of constitutionality in the Dauphin County court. . . . There is widespread belief that the levy, effective June 1, may not survive court airings due to what was labeled faulty draftsmanship of the tax legislation. . . . Attorneys for some soft drinks bottlers, planning to file new suits against the impost, have claimed the tax legislation was "badly botched" and indicated lack of knowledge concerning vast ramifications of the soft drinks business. . . . They have maintained that despite knotty problems involved in such a tax, flawless legislation could have been drawn.

The much amended tax measure, which was re-enacted to plug possible loopholes after the tax suit was filed, was handled chiefly by Deputy Attorney General David Fuss, of Pittsburgh, reported to be a protégé of Gov. James H. Duff. . . . Fuss joined the department in February, 1943, and left shortly afterward to spend more than three and a half years in military service. . . . Few persons on capitol hill knew he was a member of the department before he received the important bill drafting assignment. . . . Prominent attorneys, including some lawmakers, have criticized assignments of other important measures to comparatively inexperienced deputies and deplored what they described as the department's lowest ebb in legal talent. . . . Inadequate salaries were blamed.

Many state policemen below the rank of commissioned officers have been critical of policies enunciated by top-drawer officials of the force since the retirement of Col. Lynn G. Adams and some have voiced caustic disapproval of the promotion system whipped up by Col. C. M. Wilhelm. . . . There seems to be a general agreement among disgruntled troopers that morale has suffered sharply in recent years and that the once proud name of the Pennsylvania state police no longer carries the connotation of authority it once did. . . . Wilhelm's promotion, system allows elevation of men with as little as four or five year service while troopers with 15 or 20 years on the force are passed over. . . . Wilhelm has claimed the system recognized merit and ability but old-timers believe politics is the answer. . . . They point out that during the 1944 election campaign, a state trooper assigned to a Schuylkill County sub-station excoriated the top brass for playing politics and submitted his resignation.

According to the last compilation in Pennsylvania, the state embraced 23,363 square miles of forest land within its overall boundary total of 45,045 square miles. . . . In short, approximately 52 per cent of Pennsylvania is forest land. . . . Little wonder that it was known as Penn's Woods or Sylva. . . . Every county in the state has state or privately owned forest land. . . . The commonwealth owns forest lands in 39 of the 67 counties.

Latest political report on capitol hill is that Gov. James H. Duff, active in the Bull Moose movement with Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, will come out in favor of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey following a visit to the national governor's conference in Salt Lake City.

June Weather Below Normal

Deficiency Both In Rainfall And Temperature Shown During Month By Local Records

June weather was just a little on the abnormal side this year, according to the records of Baxter F. Johnson, U. S. Weather Observer. There was a deficiency of .58 inches of rainfall, and a deficiency of 2.6 degrees in the temperature. The mean maximum temperature was 76.5 degrees, the mean minimum, 53.1 degrees, and the mean average was 66.3 degrees. The highest temperature was 84 degrees on the 22nd and the lowest was 39 degrees on the 4th. There were four days during the month when the temperature was 90 or above. The total precipitation for June was 3.72 inches, the greatest in 24 hours being .91 inches on the second. Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 13, and with .25 inches or more were four. Days clear with 13, partly cloudy, ten; and cloudy seven. This was identical with last year. In June of 1946, the rainfall was 1.28 inches below the normal.

YOUTH PROGRAM
TRENTON, N. J.—(INS)—Recently New Jersey legislation authorized cities to create youth guidance councils designed to curb juvenile delinquency according to the council of state governments. The new law provides for municipal establishment of seven-member councils empowered to integrate all local work on youth problems and advise the juvenile courts. Councils will represent the city government, school system, and local police department.

Benjamin Franklin, in 1762, invented the harmonica, a musical instrument consisting of a number of glasses of water, and played by touching them with a dampened finger. The greater the quantity of water the higher tone of the scale.

New Embargo On Rail Shipments
At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania was dealt another blow today in the 39-day old strike of Pittsburgh truck drivers when the Pennsylvania Railroad announced a new embargo on rail shipments.

Extended restrictions on less-than-car-load freight shipments to include a district bounded by Grapeville, near Greensburg, Charleroi, Beaver Falls, and Washington, were disclosed as freight continued to pile up on platforms throughout the area.

The new embargo fell as no immediate break in the strike was indicated members of the AFL teamsters union and the western Pennsylvania Motor Carriers' Association were meeting behind closed doors with Mayor David L. Lawrence.

The teamsters continued their demands of 17½ cents an hour. The association has offered 12½ cents.

Medical Society Of State Warns On Paralysis

Precautionary Measures Aimed At Preventing Or Minimizing Effects Of Disease Issued

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 11.—Summertime is the time of year when infantile paralysis makes its appearance and precautionary measures aimed to prevent or minimize the effects of this dread disease have been issued by The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

Headache, nausea, a cold, upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, are symptoms of infantile paralysis, as they are of many other childhood diseases, and when any of these appear, parents are urged to be on the safe side and consult the family doctor.

Mingling with crowds is discouraged especially among strangers in theaters, on trains, buses, boats, or at beaches. Local health authorities decide whether schools and other gathering places may remain open.

Extreme fatigue makes the child an easier victim of the virus causing infantile paralysis and strenuous play, late hours, and irregular schedules are dangerous.

Children should not be permitted to swim in polluted water nor should they remain in cold water until they become chilled.

Most important of all precautions is keeping flies and other insects from food. Garbage should not be left uncovered and children should be instructed to wash their hands before eating.

Early hospitalization is recommended, not only as a life-saving measure, but for its value in preventing excessive deformity from infantile paralysis.

Do not treat the early symptoms of the disease lightly, warns the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

Alvah D. Smith En Route To Home

Pfc. Alvah L. Smith, of R. D. 6, Butler Road, New Castle, Pa., has recently left aboard the S. S. General Aultman from the Paranaque Replacement and Disposition Center for return to the United States, it was announced at Headquarters, Philippines-Ryukyus Command in Manila.

Upon his arrival in San Francisco, he will be sent to Camp Stoneham Personnel Center in California for release from active duty.

J. F. McClelland Now Paratrooper

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN SAPPORO, JAPAN (Delayed)—Corporal Jim F. McClelland, of New Castle, Penn., qualified as a paratrooper recently after completing five jumps from an airplane in flight. He attended the 11th Airborne Division Jump School near Sendai, Honshu, Japan.

Cpl. McClelland graduated in class 38 from a two-week course which afforded ground training and actual jumping experience. During the first week the student follows a schedule of rigorous training: calisthenics, parachute landing falls, mock door training to teach the proper procedure relevant to standing in the door and leaving the plane, mock tower drills which simulate the opening shock of a parachute, and suspended harness drills showing the various means of controlling the chute.

The second week of training consists of five daytime jumps from a troop carrier at an altitude of 1200 feet.

McClelland, after completing his training, is now entitled to wear the boots and wings of the Parachute Infantry. He also draws an additional $50 a month jump pay.

Prior to entering the service, McClelland attended the Franklin high school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myrl McClelland, reside at 806 Latrope St., New Castle, Penn.

Conceded Lead
For Dewey Poses
Some ProblemsBy LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE WITH GOV. DEWEY. July 11.—Gov. Dewey's conceded lead for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination reached a stage today where some of his supporters urged slowing down his so-called "campaign" for delegates.

While the New York governor traveled across Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming toward the annual governors' conference in Salt Lake City, Dewey's leaders disagreed whether he should:

Problem Faced

1. Apply the brakes to his boom to head-off a possible gang-up movement by rival aspirants to the GOP nomination, or

2. Intensify his drive for delegates in the hope of starting a bandwagon scramble which might knock all rivals out of the picture and assure a first ballot nomination next year.

Party leaders from Missouri and Kansas, with whom Dewey conferred in Kansas City, Mo., told him he would have most of the convention delegates from those states.

Previously, similar assurances were given him during his four-day visit in Sapulpa, Okla., by leaders from Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

Kansas Republican leaders insisted that the Empire state's chief executive could now count on at least 400 delegates, with some states still on the fence and a large number ready to swing to him if a second ballot is required.

Alleged Death Instruments Are Presented In TrialPart Of Evidence Being Submitted
In Yacht Murder Case Trial
In California

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 11.—(INS)—Tools and equipment, labeled by the state as the instrument of death, were part of the evidence today in the Overell yacht murder trial at Santa Ana.

In the collection was a machinist's ballpeen hammer, a battered, rusty alarm clock, a dynamite cap, a few strands of wire and a small piece of pink adhesive tape.

Although the prosecution has not yet nailed it down as such, the hammer has been termed the weapon with which Mrs. Walter E. Overell was slugged to death aboard her yacht, the Mary E, in Newport last March 15.

Other Items "Nailed Down"

The other items were nailed down. They were identified by the state as parts of the home-made dynamite bomb used to sink the yacht, and thus cover up the slaying of Mrs. Overell and her wealthy financier husband.

These were identified by Sgt. Russell Camp, a veteran explosives expert from the Los Angeles police crime laboratory, who gave the jury a detailed description of the time bomb.

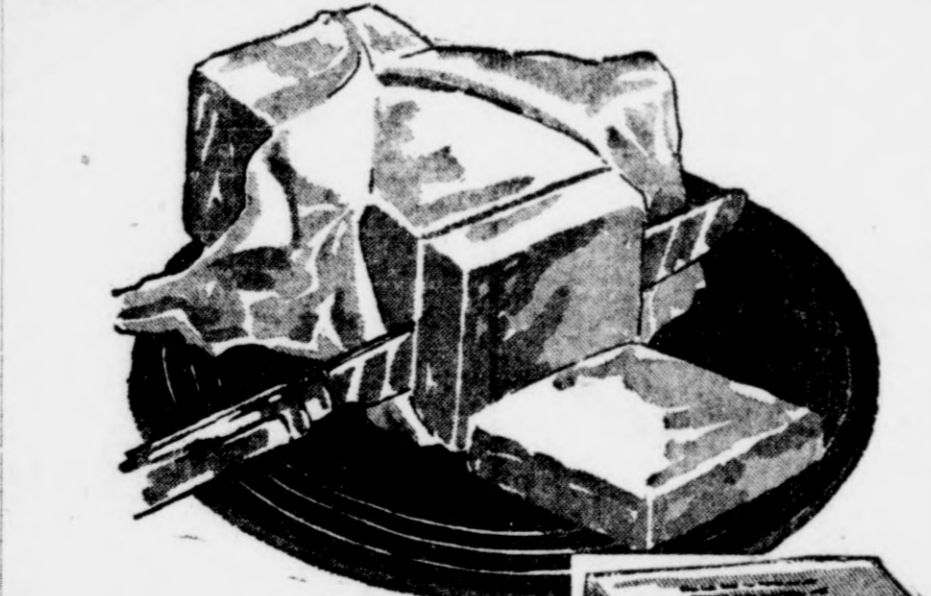

The ballpeen hammer was introduced in evidence late yesterday, shortly before court recessed for the week-end.

Special Prosecutor Eugene D. Williams said after court that the stanchion claimed by the state as the weapon with which Mr. Overell was killed would be introduced early next week.

The hammer was submitted while Sgt. Harry Lacey of the Newport Beach police force was on the witness stand.

New Frontiers In Application Of Atomic Energy

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 11.—(INS)—Tremendous new frontiers of the understanding and application of atomic energy were described for the first time today at a meeting of the American Physical Society on the Stanford University campus at Palo Alto, Cal.

Most spectacular, if not the most important in end results, was the announcement of the initial production of man-made cosmic rays in the new giant cyclotron at the University of California.

Manufacture of the mysterious atom-smashing cosmic rays and other new developments made possible for the 4,000-ton cyclotron provided an amazing array of contributions to man's further understanding of the energy locked in the atom.

These momentous discoveries in the study of the atom were paraded before approximately 200 of America's top-flight nuclear physicists attending the current 208th session of the American Physical Society.

The group of University of California researchers, reporting at the meeting, had utilized the enormous energies unleashed by the new cyclotron. They found it a tool that dwarfed the potentialities of the university's smaller cyclotron and other earlier equipment which furnished the basic knowledge for the atomic bomb.

McDEVITT ENTERS
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—John J. McDevitt, who was an international figure in 1912 when he was a "millionaire-for-a-day" tossed his hat today into the Democratic mayoralty contest at Wilkes-Barre.

"When elected," he promised, "I'll do a few things to put some life into the old burg."
Mayor Con McCole, Democrat, has announced he would not seek reelection.

Noted Polio Victim Loses Her Battle

HAMMOND, Ind., July 11.—(INS)—Nancy Lorraine Freeman's long, game fight for life is ended.

Sixteen-year-old Nancy was the Hammond polio victim to whom practically all northern Indiana rushed aid last year so she might spend Christmas at home.

The Hammond Elks club furnished an iron lung to be set up in her home. The city fire and police departments cooperated to speed her home in the few minutes she could live outside the contraption.

Last April 15 an electrical storm cut off all power in the vicinity. Nancy's life was endangered and the utility company raced a special generator to her home to maintain the lung.

Yesterday, Nancy's stout heart gave up the battle it had fought since June, 1946.

Well Laid Robbery Plan Is Failure

LYONS, Ill., July 11.—(INS)—Rudolph A. Belasich, 21, a bank messenger, and the Lyons, Ill., police department had the last laugh today on two bandits who apparently went to great trouble to plot a perfect crime.

The would-be robbers apparently watched Belasich for several days noting very carefully exactly what times he went to the post office and when he returned to the bank with a bundle.

Yesterday they pounced on him just as he left the postoffice and threatened him with a gun.

He surrendered his bundle and the two dashed away in an automobile.

In the bundle were $60,000 worth of cancelled checks.

Homecoming Ends Sunday At Church In Portersville

Saturday and Sunday will bring to a close the week long 168th homecoming services at the Portersville U. P. church. It is announced by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Fulton.

Saturday evening, the blind trombone player, Mervin Boyle of Gibsonia, Pa., with Mrs. Boyle, will be present to sing and play during the service, which will get under way at 8 o'clock D.S.T. The sermon will be preached by Rev. R. L. Stevenson.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the Lord's Supper will be observed, with Rev. Stevenson preaching. At 2:30 p. m. special features will form a part of the service. Rev. Fulton will make a number of presentations in honor of events that have occurred during the years past.

Misses Elsie and Marion McClymonds, students at the American School of the Bible, and William Fulton of Bob Jones university will speak briefly during the service. Rev. Stevenson will also speak.

The last service will start at 8 p. m. with Evangelist Stevenson, a former pastor of the church, speaking. Accommodations have been made for those bringing their lunch. Coffee will be supplied.

BLAME STORM FOR DEATH

CLARION, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—A rainstorm today was blamed for the death of a Titusville man.

Frank C. Hesch died of a heart attack on a Clarion county farm road yesterday, apparently from the exertion of trying to push his car out of the mud, the coroner's office reported.

Eleven East Brook F. F. A. boys plan to attend a judging and calf catching contest Saturday at the Bonicraft Farms at Renfrew, Butler county.

Evidence Found On Red Plot In Greece Is Report

ATHENS, July 11.—(INS)—Greek Minister of Public Order Gen. Napoléon Zorzi announced today that documentary evidence has been found revealing communist plans for a "revolutionary army" in Greece.

He said that orders to this effect had been issued in April. Approximately 4,000 alleged communist plotters were rounded up in a series of sweeping raids at dawn on Wednesday in Athens and Piraeus.

TO KILL BEARS

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., July 11.—(INS)—The West Virginia conservation commission today gave the "go-ahead" signal to farmers and ranchers who have sought permission to kill bears which have been raiding flocks of sheep since spring in the Martinsburg area.

Although protected except for an open season in November, the commission ruled the bears could be killed at any time when caught raiding sheep flocks.

Earlier this year a number of ranchers, powerless to legally stop the depredations, sold their sheep.

Gallstones are found in from 3 to 10 per cent of all persons, particularly in those between 40 and 50 years of age.

Import Embargo On Luxury Goods Set By Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—(INS)—The Mexican government ordered a sweeping import embargo on luxury goods today and hiked tariffs on a long list of other non-essential articles.

The drastic measure aimed to protect a dwindling Mexican dollar reserve, which has dropped from 355 million to about 200 million since the end of the war.

About 90 per cent of the items affected are brought into Mexico from the United States. Many feared the government move will lead to a flourishing black market.

Embargoed are a long list of "luxuries" varying from automobiles and refrigerators to socks and calendars.

Tariff increases are in proportion to price rises since 1942. It covers such items as buttons, cigarette papers and felt hats.

Treasury Secretary Ramon Beteta said the measures are temporary, and expressed hope the embargo can be lifted in a few months.

Probe Death Leap Of Woman From Pittsburgh Hotel

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Police today sought for questioning the former companion of a 45-year-old woman who leaped to her death from a downtown Pittsburgh hotel while scores of horrified pedestrians watched.

The woman was tentatively identified as Mrs. Al Kovak of Columbus, O. J. D. Kiefer, hotel room clerk, said she had registered Wednesday with a soldier, as Mr. and Mrs. Al Kovak, Columbus.

The soldier could not be located. She jumped from the window last night while a bell boy waited outside her door to pick up her bags. She died instantly.

Homicide Detective John Nugent said she left only a hastily scrawled note with the salutation "Dear Mother and Vera." It contained but one other word, which appeared to be "Beatrice."

There was little more than a dollar in change in the room.

Wilsons Home From Michigan Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Findley Wilson, operators of Wilson Aviation flying school at the New Castle Airport, arrived at the New Castle Airport on Thursday, following their attendance at the Stinson dealer's meeting at Wayne, Michigan.

Accompanying the couple home were Mrs. Wilson's mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Anderson and Mrs. Norman L. Cox.

The trip to Michigan, made on Wednesday, was made in very bad flying weather and the Stinson Voyager in which the flight was made, was forced down at Sandusky, Ohio. Following an hour's delay, the flight was resumed.

During the meeting, Mr. Bleasby, vice president of Consolidated Vultee Corporation, was featured speaker with his discussion relating mostly to the great part civil aviation was to play in the future to everyone where time was an object. He maintained that the airport is similar to the automobile garage business, with the only difference, one uses the ground and the other the air.

Following the business meeting, the dealers were entertained by the Stinson Division of Consolidated Vultee Corporation at a luncheon in the Detroit Statler hotel. Enroute home, the party stopped again at Sandusky and spent the night there, arriving here Thursday.

Program Under Gen. MacArthur Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The Far Eastern Commission, in the first Allied statement of occupation aims in Japan, today endorsed the American occupation program under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

It is expected that the official sanction of the U. S. policy by the other 10 nations active in the Pacific war will strengthen the hand of MacArthur in Japan.

The commission gave its endorsement in a document entitled "basic post-surrender policy for Japan," which was virtually a restatement of the American program.

State Capitol Statues Being Given Scrubbing

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—If they could talk, costly statues flanking the main entrance to the State Capitol building probably would be raising a terrific ruckus. They're being given their first real "Saturday Night" scrubbing in years—first with chemicals applied with scrub brushes, then with boiling wax.

But, it's all for their own good, said Frederick S. Condit, of New York City, boss of the cleaning operations.

He explained that the statuary was being cleaned and waterproofed to halt deterioration due to the elements.

Russian Actress Arrives In U. S. To Begin Career

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS)—A pretty blonde Russian actress, bearing the scars and scarred memories of the siege of Leningrad during which she was severely wounded, has just arrived in this country to begin an American career as actress and housewife.

As Kyra Petrovskaya, the lovely young lady charmed musical comedies and dramatic audiences in Leningrad and Moscow and she hopes now to add the same name to the glittering marquee on Broadway. About Hollywood, she has her doubts.

Miss Petrovskaya, 27-year-old, tall, blonde attractive, is the wife of Elliott Shirk, retiring director of the intergovernmental committee on refugees in Germany. They met in

Youth For Christ To Picnic At Grove City

No Youth Meeting To Be Held At First Methodist Auditorium Saturday Evening

Saturday afternoon, members and friends of the New Castle Youth for Christ will hold their first annual picnic at Memorial Park in Grove City. Due to the picnic which will be in progress throughout the afternoon and evening, no meeting will be held at the First Methodist Church on Saturday evening.

Arrangements have been made whereby transportation will be furnished to all young people reporting at the First Methodist Church North Jefferson street, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Plans have been laid for a program of sports, which will include a soft ball game, volleyball, swimming and other events to interest the youth.

Following the evening meal, it is planned to have a devotional service in charge of the local director, Rev. Howard Sartell. He will introduce the visiting speaker, Dr. Harold S. Laird, of Wilmington, Delaware.

Woman's True Tale Gets Her Into Liar Club

SAEGERTOWN, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—Mrs. M. M. Bloom had tried for years to get into the Saegertown Liar's club but the all-male organization would not accept her. Then, the other day she told a true story and promptly became a member. The story which brought Mrs. Bloom the coveted membership concerned a rare black bear she says she sighted near here recently.

Along with her membership she received a fireman's emblem with a gray ribbon and a gold tassel bearing the inscription, Liar's Club, First Prize.

The Liar's club meets at a service station here with Mrs. Bloom's husband one of the leading figures.

Continue Hunt For Husband In Trunk Murder

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., July 11.—(INS)—The strangulation murder of a San Luis Obispo hotel restaurant operator's wife assumed international aspects today with revelation of the victim's adventurous career as a courtesan in Europe during the World War I era.

Police backtracking through the life of Mrs. Helen M. King, 49, found her to be the former Countess Christiana De Zohbe of Portugal. Still missing and wanted for questioning was her distinguished-looking husband, Morley V. King, 46, who vanished shortly before the woman's body was found jammed in a wooden trunk that had been shoved under the back porch of the Andrews hotel.

King had been operating the hotel's restaurant for two months, since arriving from New Orleans, where he also had run a restaurant.

Another Version Of Flying Saucers

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—A new series of "flying saucers" described as "small moons" were a subject of much discussion in near-by Mt. Lebanon today.

Mrs. Violet Sumner, 24, said she saw the "small moons" last night. "They were very round and traveled very fast. They looked like moons but not as bright. They didn't look like saucers to me," Mrs. Sumner said.

Another resident of Mt. Lebanon reported seeing 16 of the "small moons" whirling toward Pittsburgh.

MANY INSURANCE FIRMS MAY INVEST IN PENNSYLVANIA

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Pennsylvania tenants and private home builders were equally interested in reports that several major insurance companies may invest large sums of money for construction in the Keystone state rather than in New York City.

One large New York insurance company has already begun investigation for a large housing project in Pittsburgh.

It was reported by the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards that the insurance companies were frightened off by New York City laws penalizing owners for discrimination against tenants because of race, religion, and so forth.

The laws deny the projects tax exemption and condemnation benefits if there is restricted renting.

MOTHER OF WHITE HOUSE BUTLER DIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—(INS)—Mourners attending the funeral today of Mrs. Mary An Fields, 56, of Indianapolis, noted a spray of a half-dozen orchids adorning the modest bier.

Among the children of Mrs. Fields present was Alonzo Fields, one of three sons, who arrived yesterday from Washington in a special army plane. The orchids were sent as a token of sympathy from his employers, President and Mrs. Truman. Alonzo Fields is a butler at the White House.

The laws deny the projects tax exemption and condemnation benefits if there is restricted renting.

Dewey's Trip Has Developed Into Political Tour

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 11.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York admitted Thursday that his "vacation" trip has developed into a political tour.

The admission came after his westward travels obviously brought increasing support in his drive for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

Dewey told a meeting of 150 Missouri and Kansas GOP leaders that he left Albany with the idea of taking his sons, Thomas Jr. and John, on a "delightful non-political vacation". He added:

"To my utter amazement, they have seen more Republican politicians in the last five days than they ever saw before in their lives, either in Albany or New York City."

No Political Speeches
However, Dewey held true to his promise making political speeches on his present jaunt. The only political note in his trip was when he took an indirect dig at the old Pendergast machine which ruled Kansas City until seven years ago.

I came after he received an honorary membership in the Missouri Republican club and commented:

"I understand your organization was founded 50 years ago for good government and it took it, as I recall, 43 years to get it in Kansas City."

This was an obvious reference to the investigation of alleged vote frauds in Kansas City and as close as Dewey came to talking politics.

Kansas City GOP leaders had urged him to make a strong statement on the subject.

Kansas Governor Guest
Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas was among the guests at the breakfast. Also present were National Committeemen Harry Darby of Kansas and Barak T. Mattingly of Missouri, with Walter L. Scott, head of the Missouri Republican club, presiding.

Dewey praised both Missouri members of the U. S. senate, declaring that through them the state had made "a magnificent contribution to good government."

New Wilmington Voters To Caucus Tuesday Night

NEW WILMINGTON, July 11.—Voters will caucus at the high school at 8 p. m. Tuesday for the purpose of selecting a slate for the primary election, according to Burgess William B. Gilliland.

Offices to be filled this year are: three councilmen for a term of four years; one auditor, six years; one assessor, four years; one school director, six years; one high constable, four years; one justice of the peace, six years, and a judge and inspector of elections.

Councilmen whose terms expire are: Howard C. Temple, president; Clare E. Wagner and George Anderson, T. L. Ashcom, who replaced Miss Elizabeth McBane, resigned, as auditor, completed his term. Assessor J. C. Monroe is ending his term as is David Boyd, school director.

Only one of two justice of the peace offices is filled which makes it necessary to nominate another.

Plane Beats Stork

WINNER in a high flying race with the stork, Mrs. A. L. Ard of Jackson, Wyo., holds daughter born at Omaha, Neb., where commercial transport in which she was a passenger made "emergency" landing. (International)

SHORT SKIRTS CAN BE LENGTHENED READILY

Many Lawrence county women are wondering how to change their short skirts to conform to the newer "below the knee" length.

For skirts which have hems, the process is simple except perhaps for the problem of removing the crease of the original hem edge.

If the edge is the least bit soiled, it will show plainly. On non-wash dresses, which do not need cleaning, clean this line with some dry cleaning fluid. Then steam-press it, using a pressing cloth. Press both right and wrong sides if it is a stubborn crease. It is not always easy to remove, especially if the fabric is a bit worn on the crease.

In case the dress is to be cleaned before it is altered, take the hem out first so that the cleaner will have a better chance to work on it.

If the skirt must be faced, select material as nearly matching in color and weight as possible or buy matching grosgrain ribbon. In cutting facing material, cut it on the bias or else shaped like the lower edge of the skirt. It will be flatter this way.

The popularity of peplums offer a good suggestion for lengthening skirts. If your skirt is large enough at the waist, lower the skirt and put in a yoke. You may have to cut off some of the top of the skirt. Conceal the yoke by a peplum or tunic, or cover it with a draped apron effect with bustle bow in back. This material may match or be print or plain. If plain, match the color in a fabric like satin or taffeta.

A dirndl skirt is easily lengthened by insets of contrasting colors—either as a yoke or as bands near the hem. Adding a pleated flounce to the bottom of a fitted skirt makes a 1947 fashion. Then add some of the pleating on the bodice, perhaps on sleeves or neck or as entire shirt taffeta.

A fitted dress with no seam at the waist line will look new with a hip band covering the set-in addition to length. Such a band is often made of folds to give a cuff effect or it may be gathered.

French Again Officially In State Office

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—Charles A. French of Ellwood City, fish commissioner since 1937, was reappointed Thursday by Gov. James M. Duff to the $6000 a year position.

French, whose salary will be raised to $6750 in January, has been serving unofficially as commissioner since a term expired in 1943. French was not reappointed during the administration of former Gov. Edward Martin because of a quarrel among certain leaders of the Republican party who believed the commissioner was a Democrat because he was appointed during the administration of ex-Governor George H. Earle.

Because an agreement could not be reached upon a successor Martin allowed French to continue in office under a provision authorizing the commissioner to retain his position until a successor was appointed and qualified.

Old Timers' Day Will Be Observed During August

The Old Timers' reunion will be held at Cascade park "about the middle of August," Paul F. Butz, president of the organization, gave this approximate time, but said that the date had not yet been set. An executive meeting will be held on Tuesday night to determine the exact date and the committee to be appointed.

President Grover Cleveland vetoed 496 bills during his term of office as President. The number of bills he vetoed during his first term of office totalled nearly twice the number vetoed by all his predecessors combined. Only two of these bills were passed over his veto.

Injured Seaman Being Flown 500 Miles To Hospital

Norwegian Seaman Is En Route To Boston By Plane From
530 Miles At Sea

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The Coast Guard said today that a seriously injured Norwegian seaman is being flown to the U. S. Marine hospital in Boston from a point 530 miles at sea.

The injured man was identified as Knute Thorsoe, member of the crew of the Norwegian Motorship Cyprina. Thorsoe was hurt when he fell through a hatch into the Cyprina's No. 3 hold.

The Cyprina established radio contact with the U. S. Army Transport William A. Holbrook and the seaman was transferred to that ship at sea yesterday.

Surgeons aboard the Holbrook recommended that he be flown ashore and asked the Coast Guard for aid.

A PBM flying boat piloted by Lieut. John A. Weber, 31, of Marblehead, Mass., took off from the Salem air station at daybreak and landed in a moderate sea alongside the transport at 9:20 a. m. (EDT).

The Holbrook's position was given as 530 miles southeast of Boston.

The patient was placed aboard the rescue plane and Weber informed Coast Guard officials that he expected to reach Salem shortly after 1 p. m. (EDT).

Religious Leaders Praise MacArthur

TOKYO, Japan.—The Japanese press recently carried a letter to General MacArthur commending him highly for his work in Japan. It was signed by leaders of the four major Japanese Christian bodies reports Rev. John Murrett, Maryknoll Missioner in Japan.

The letter was signed by Archbishop Peter Doi of Tokyo for the Catholic Church in Japan, Bishop T. Sugai for the Episcopal Church, Michio Kozaki for the Church of Christ, and Masaki Imasumi, chairman of the All-Japan Christian Union.

Moved To Tears

Declaring that General MacArthur's announcement that the Japanese people would not be allowed to starve as long as he was in command, has "moved us and the members of our families to tears," the letter states, "We are especially grateful to your excellency for your sympathetic and timely aid in helping us to solve both our spiritual crisis and our problem of food shortage."

The letter concludes: "We believe that we can best show our gratitude to your excellency and to the people of the United States for planting the truth of Jesus Christ in the hearts of our people."

Girl Scouts Not Concerned With Mother's Recipes

CAMP BARREE, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—Put away that cook book mother, it's out of style. At least that's the opinion of some of the girl scouts attending the international encampment here at Logan State Forest.

They have had a lot of experience in outdoor cooking. For example there is the "angel on horseback." That's a favorite—cheese rolled around a twig with bacon on the outside and toasted. A real "dream job" say the girls.

And there is the "somewhere" some more—a big favorite on "cook outs." To a toasted marshmallow add a bit of chocolate bar—quick—and put it between two graham crackers. Verdict: "Out of the world."

But with the "lotsmore" you split the marshmallow and toast the chocolate with it. But skip the graham crackers. Just eat it off the twig. This one is "really choice" the scouts report.

The bread twist is fun too. That's the biscuit dough twisted and cooked with butter and jam added later. But don't try this one mother, you'll probably get dough all over the kitchen.

That's what the girls say.

The snowy plover is a handsome bird which is found in the southwestern United States.

Garden Notes

Purple-top rutabagas should be thinned to stand six to eight inches apart in the row instead of four inches usually allowed for the smaller turnips, this because the former are such heavy growers.

To keep polyantha or small-flowered rambler roses in continuous bloom, cut off flower clusters.

While everyone knows that vine-ripened tomatoes are far superior to those which have been picked green and allowed to ripen, still another reward for growing your own tomatoes is that fully ripe ones are about twice as high in vitamin C as those picked while green.

Most seedmen supply a summer list of seeds and bulbs which can be planted now. Many herbaceous perennial seeds, such as those of forget-me-nots, English daisies, larkspurs, columbines, hollyhocks, foxgloves and pyrethrums can be sown for next year's plants.

To control aphids found on under sides of the leaves of young cabbage, egg plant, potato and tomato plants, spray with two teaspoonfuls of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate and two tablespoonfuls of soap flakes in one gallon of water.

If you have not already done so, cut down lupin and pyrethrum foliage. The latter will bloom again in August. Pick off the dead flowering head from Canterbury bells and the side buds will come out.

Soviet Rejects Request On Size Of World Police

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 11.—(INS)—The Soviet Union rejected today French and Australian requests before the United Nations Security Council for Russian figures on the size of the proposed international police force.

Andre A. Gromyko, the Russian delegate, said it was impossible to give such an estimate.

The United States, Great Britain and France already have submitted estimates on what they believe should be the size of an effective U.N. armed force to preserve world peace. China has approved the British figures.

Croton Playground Has Day Of Sports

Croton avenue playground featured a Sports Day on Thursday morning with a variety of games being conducted. Races for both boys and girls basketball and volleyball were participated by a throng of youngsters from the Croton district.

Norman Clark was the fastest runner in the races for boys with Marlene Malley winning for the girls. Raymond Farrell made the most baskets in a ten minute period and Dorothy Pascarella was volley ball winner. Other winners included Charles Wingfield, Fred Benninghoff, Nick Colardo, Mike DeRosa, Betty Cimini and Ethel Echardt.

Judging the sports winners were Carmen Pia and Olga Ruby. Viales Metta is playground supervisor.

INITIALED PENNY RETURNS MEADVILLE, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—When Sam Way was in boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., in 1942, he amused himself in idle moments by cutting his initials in pennies. The other day one of the pennies came back to him in change with a package of cigarettes from a vending machine.

Uniformed Band For High School At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, July 11.—A uniformed band is assured for the fall term at New Wilmington high school as a result of the purchase of 30 blue and gold uniforms from the Farrell school district. Announcement of the purchase was made by Herb Smith, immediate past president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The uniforms were available as the result of the purchase of a new set of uniforms for the Farrell High band by the Farrell Booster club. The uniforms are in good condition and are of the same colors used by New Wilmington.

The committee of Smith, Carlton Lehman and James Hayden has also been responsible for securing of instruments for a band of 30 to 35 pieces. Some of the instruments were purchased from funds raised by the PTA while others were donated. Instruments purchased include a bass horn, two alto horns, French horn, baritone horn, piccolo, two trombones, bell lyre, field drum and a set of cymbals. Donated instruments include a large bass drum, small bass drum, field drum, clarinet and a bass horn.

Hunt Possible Prints Of A-Bomb Secrets Stolen

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The FBI reportedly is conducting an extensive search today for any prints made of top-secret atomic photographs stolen from the Los Alamos, N. M., laboratories.

Members of the congressional atomic committee said that the stolen photographic negatives were developed and that the FBI is investigating to determine if any prints are still at large.

It was pointed out that one of the two souvenir-hunting army sergeants accused of taking the secret films from Los Alamos in March, 1946, was a photographer.

The FBI investigation was said to be aimed at precluding the chance that any prints would fall into the hands of foreign agents.

Seek To Steal Secret

Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, chairman of the atomic committee, told newsmen yesterday that foreign spies are "working 24 hours a day" in an attempt to steal America's A-bomb secrets.

Hickenlooper declined to comment on statements by other committee members that the stolen date consisted of photographic negatives showing vital machinery.

Likewise, the FBI refused to discuss the congressional reports or to talk about the progress of its investigations.

The justice department said no instructions had been issued for the arrest of two suspects, but a spokesman reiterated his agency's intention of prosecuting the men involved in the theft.

Gets Injunction To Prevent Man Taking Wife Out

CLEVELAND, July 11.—(INS)—Injunctions now are spreading into the marital relations field.

In probably the first case of its kind in Cuyahoga county common pleas court, a petition was on file today asking that a suburban Parma man be restrained from taking out another man's wife.

The restraining order is sought by Buster Harbican, of Cleveland, against A. W. Schmidt, who Harbican alleges is alienating the affections of his wife, Helen.

Harbican charged that Schmidt frequently visited his home and took his wife to the movies and other places. The Harbicans have been married 15 years.

M. S. Farmer, attorney for Harbican, said that the injunction procedure was sound because Schmidt was interfering with a contract—"that of marriage."

Pirates Give Up Basinski, Bahr and McLish To Get Right-Hand Hurler

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today had a new pitcher on their staff as Manager Billy Herman sought to bolster a sagging mound crew that has dumped the Bucs into the National League cellar.

They announced purchase last night of relief hurler Mel Queen from the New York Yankees in a deal that sent second baseman Eddie Basinski to Newark, Yanks' International League farm. Two Pirate hurlers, young Cal McLish and Edison Bahr, were optioned to Kansas City and Portland, respectively, but remain Pirate property. Both are Yankee farms.

Annual Sports
Day Program
On West Side

Wednesday morning and Thursday afternoon the West Side Playground held their annual sports day. Because of rain on Wednesday afternoon the events scheduled for that time were postponed till Thursday.

The day included contests in basketball, horseshoes, jumping rope, jacks, volleyball, and various relay races. Points were given to the winners of each event and at 3:30 P. M. yesterday afternoon they were totaled to determine the highest scorers.

James Carr took first place by winning in both basketball and horse shoes. Wayne Fennell came in second as high scorer in volleyball, and Joan Guinagh placed third by winning a jacks tournament and scoring second in the jumping rope contest.

Miss Anne Carroll, the instructor of the playground, was in charge of the day and was assisted by many of the boys and girls.

Lockleys Lose

Wagner Panthers defeated the Lockley A. C. last night by a score of 7-0, behind two-hit pitching of Cliff Rowland, who had the strong East Side team at his mercy all evening.

This was the first loss for the Lockleys in 19 starts this season and their first loss in the American Legion Junior league.

Besides hurling superb ball, Rowland kicked in with a double. Pee Wee Kennedy had two hits for the winners.

Amateur Fighters, Fans Await "Bell" At Flaherty Field Tonight

Marotta, Fittipaldo Headline Show, With Eight Bouts On Card

Cleveland And Warren Featherweight Champions In Main Go; Elkins Brothers Battles Brunello; Sabotin Meets Swanton; Elisco Punches With Pressley; Gibbons Takes On Eddie Kilbane; First Bout At 8:30 P.M.

Tonight thousands of fans and fanettes will flock to the Flaherty field, where Eddie Marotta, world's amateur featherweight champion, will headline the feature of an eight-bout show, to start at 8:30 p. m., E.S.T. It is a presentation of the Johnson Bronze Employees Association, of which Joe Daugherty is president.

And when the fans see Marotta and Fittipaldo slip out of their various robes, with gloves laced to their hands, a mighty roar will go up, because they will be seeing for the first time, two champs battle. Marotta is an orthodox fighter, a port-sider to be exact, while Ted is a left-hander, or southpaw. There isn't much difference in ability between them, hence tonight's scrap should border on the sensational. In fact, a knockout is not without the realm of possibility.

Years Of Experience
Both have fought for years in amateur ranks. Marotta has had 131 fights, something which has brought him experience and all the tricks that "pros" use. The same may be said of Fittipaldo. Marotta won his world's diadem when he defeated Kurt Krueger of far-away Sweden several weeks ago in Chicago. In winning, he crowned himself with fistic glory. Fittipaldo, who was senior runner up in 1946, basked in the spotlight when he copped the junior title two months ago in a Kansas City ring.

However, while most fans will follow their eyes upon them because they are champions, the fact remains there are other champions, lesser known perhaps, who will fight equally as well. For instance, there is Johnny Swanton of Cleveland, a Golden Glove king of the forest city of this year's making, opposed to Lallo Sabotin, former state champion of Ohio Golden Glove boxers. To be frank, Lallo is said to be a flash, and if Swanton can defeat him, fans will recognize him as a Golden Glove champion of the first water.

Brothers Vs. Brunello
A spectacular, if not sensational bout, will be unfurled when Elkins Brothers, this city's foremost amateur fighter, shakes hands with Sal Brunello, Golden Glove heavyweight notice of Youngstown, preliminary to the actual fight. Elkins is as vicious as a viper. No fighter, amateur or pro, produced here, has unfurled as sudden and soporific attack as Brothers unleashed in his four ring appearances.

While he yet has the finer points of the boxing game to learn, he has shown aptitude and his knowledge has increased with each battle, and today he stands at the top of the local amateur world. Whether Brunello, can withstand the whirlwind, Dempsey-Louis-like attack remains to be seen.

The Other Battles
There are other fights equal in intensity as those written of, namely:

The Chuck Gibbons vs. Eddie Kilbane, 145 pound fight;

The Guy Elisco vs. Dessie Pressley of Cleveland.

The Pete Stevens vs. Bob Redding, 1945 Golden Glove (Cleveland) champ tangle;

The Armando DeMarco vs. Chick McCarty punch duel and the blow-for-blow combat between Don Schultz and Joe Scott.

On paper, the fistic extravaganza appears to be the most stupendous joust ever planned here. Men and women who haven't seen a fight since the days of the Jolly bowl have cancelled other arrangements, in order to drink in the spectacular show in Flaherty field, Croton district, at 8:30 p. m.

THIRD U. P. WINS
The Third U. P. church softball team defeated the Mahoningtown church softball team 12 to 7 at Rose Avenue field last night. Pitcher for Third U. P. Wischaker, catcher, Wyman, Mahoningtown — Pitcher Howard and catcher, Jolley.

Thursday night the Third U. P. team will play the Epworth Methodist team at Rose avenue.

Brooks Injured While Training

Wayne Brooks, Golden Gloves heavyweight champion of Lorain, now fighting out of Cleveland, was injured in training, will not be here tonight for his meeting with Elkins Brothers New Castle heavyweight, Sal Brunello a Youngstown novice champion will substitute for Brooks, with Dessie Pressley of Cleveland meeting Guy Elisco, who was slated to battle Brunello, it was announced by Matchmaker and Promoter for the Johnson Bronze Employees Association—Ed Fritz.

Famous Colored Clowns Will Be Here Saturday

Indianapolis Clowns Will Try To Snap Winning Streak Of Jay-Bees, Game At 8:15

New Castle baseball fans will be given a treat Saturday evening at the P. J. Flaherty field, when the famous Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American Professional league will play the Johnson Bronze Jay-Bees at 8:15 o'clock.

The Clowns will endeavor to stop the nine-game winning streak of the Mike Duffley sluggers, and Duffley said today that he will pitch either Jack LeBeau or Al Haines on the mound and let them try to stop us.

Put On Real Show
The Indianapolis club has been getting a big ovation everywhere they have shown this year and will give the New Castle fans a real treat in baseball with their antics on and off the field. The Clowns are coming here highly recommended. Ralph H. Gardner said.

Fans liked the Pittsburgh Colored Stars and will like the Indianapolis team just as well or better, it being a much better ball club than the Pittsburghers had.

Prices for the Indianapolis and Jay-Bee game have been raised to 75 cents general admission and $1 reserved seats, with 25 cents for children under 12.

Traynor Here Sunday
Pie Traynor is bringing his strong Otto Cochran team from the Great-er Pittsburgh league here Sunday afternoon for a battle with the Jay-Bees at 2:30 o'clock, with "ladies and children free day" prevailing at Flaherty Field, it was announced by Joseph Daugherty, president of the Johnson Bronze Employees Association, through Ralph H. Gardner.

This is a stellar attraction and will draw a large crowd of baseball lovers. The prices for the Sunday game will be 50 and 75 cents.

Jimmy Williams, St. Louis heavyweight, was a stride runner boxing's big time with his 10-round decision victory over Johnny Shkor of Baltimore and Boston.

Church Golfers End Loop Season

St. Marys And St. Pauls Will Battle It Out For League Title Now

New Castle church golfers ended their 1947 league season at the beautiful Castle Hills course last evening with St. Mary's and St. Paul's the two top teams in the standing. These two teams will now battle each other for the loop championship, under the new set-up this year whereby the split season was eliminated.

Due to the no daylight saving time here and the fact that there were only nine teams in the league, shortened the season quite a bit, the captains deciding on just one round of play, or nine games.

Medal Honors Split
Here is how the teams finally wound up: St. Mary's, 77; St. Paul's, 70; First U. P., 68; First Christians, 68; First Baptists, 61; First Presbyterians, 59; Epworth-Methodists, 50; Second U. P., 34; Highland-Harbor, 27.

Medal honors for the final league night were split between Stan Bukowski and Ezz Palmer with 37 cards, while other low cards were turned in by Jimmy Dart, 38; Fred Scheppelle, 39; Chuck Palmer, 39, and Roy Mumford, 39.

With the major league all-star game out of the way, Midwest sports fans today turned their full attention to the return Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano middleweight title bout.

Vets Jar Bessemer From Lead In County League

TUBE CITY OUTFIT WINS BY 8-6 SCORE

ELLWOOD CITY, July 11.—Bessemer's brief reign as Kingpins of the County league came to a jolting halt here last night as the Ellwood Vets whacked the Martin men, 8-6, to drop them into second place and lift the Moose into the driver's seat.

The Patterson crew really had their big bats in action last night as they culled the offerings of southpaw Harry Hardesty for 16 blows. Everyone in the lineup except Kirkwood smacked the apple hard, with Carl Blazin reaping three hits.

Gail McCready hurled the distance for the winners, giving up nine hits, three of them to Stanley, who got a single, double and triple.

The Vets sewed up the contest in the fifth frame when they poured across five runs.

Don Black Hurls No-Hit Game For Cleveland Indians

"Bad Boy" Black Enters Hall Of Fame, Trims Club That Didn't Want Him

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Alcoholics anonymous got into baseball's hall of fame today.

The clock in the steeple struck nine as Don Black, hitherto regarded as just a rum (CQ)—of-the-mine pitcher, hurled a no-hit game last night, beating the Philadelphia Athletics 3 to 0 in the first game of a twin bill. It was the American league's first no-hitter of the season.

Steals Feller's Thunder
Thus the no-hit thunder of Black's famous teammate, Bob Feller, was stolen from the most unexpected quarter imaginable, although Black previously had hurled two no-hitters in the minors.

At Milwaukee during the last part of 1946, Black compiled a highly unimpressive earned-run average of 5.13.

Earlier with Cleveland, he won one out of three with an average of 4.50. It looked like the end of the trail for the six-foot, 185-pounder, but he joined alcoholic anonymous, reformed his training habits and pulled himself from the brink of failure by pitching curve balls instead of highballs.

His Seventh Win
By winning seven games this year, Black has vindicated Manager Lou Boudreau, who decided to give the former rough-house hurler another chance.

Black was cheered to the echo by more than 40,000 spectators as he handcuffed the A's, who once cast him off.

The Indians also took the second game, 2 to 1, and regained fourth place in the American league. Feller, who pitched Cleveland's last no-hitter, against the Yankees in New York last year, was credited with the victory although he was relieved in the ninth inning.

Branca Wins Two
Black's masterpiece took the spotlight away from Ralph Branca, Brooklyn's ace pitcher, who was credited with both wins in the Dodgers' double victory over Chicago, 5 to 3 and 4 to 3. Branca didn't pitch a complete game in either contest but he wound up with a season's total of 14 triumphs, including his last seven.

The Dodgers increased their lead in the National league to two full games when Boston got no better than an even break against Cincinnati. Two homers by Tommy Holmes enabled the Braves to take the afternoon game 6 to 4, but in the night contest they held the Hub crew to three hits and bested Bill Voiselle 2 to 1.

Yanks Win Again
It was a great day for pitchers all around. Relief pitcher Joe Page of the New York Yankees walloped his first homer of the season in the ninth to give the Yanks a 4 to 3 win over the St. Louis Browns. It was the ninth straight victory for the Yankees and equals the longest winning streak of the majors this season.

The Boston Red Sox were held to a 2 to 2 tie by Detroit in an eight-inning twilight game.

Washington whipped the Chicago White Sox twice, 4 to 0 behind Early Wynn, and 7 to 2 in the second game.

Pirates Lose Two
For persons who want to know what is wrong with the St. Louis Cardinals, the answer is that they generally lose when they play in the daytime. At night, the world's champs have won 21 out of 26 this season, for a percentage higher than 800, good enough to win a pennant even in the defunct League of Nations. George Munger, who has won six straight are light contests, gave his club a further boost toward the mythical owl's title by beating the Giants 11 to 4 last night.

The Phillies downed Pittsburgh twice 7 to 2 and 2 to 1.

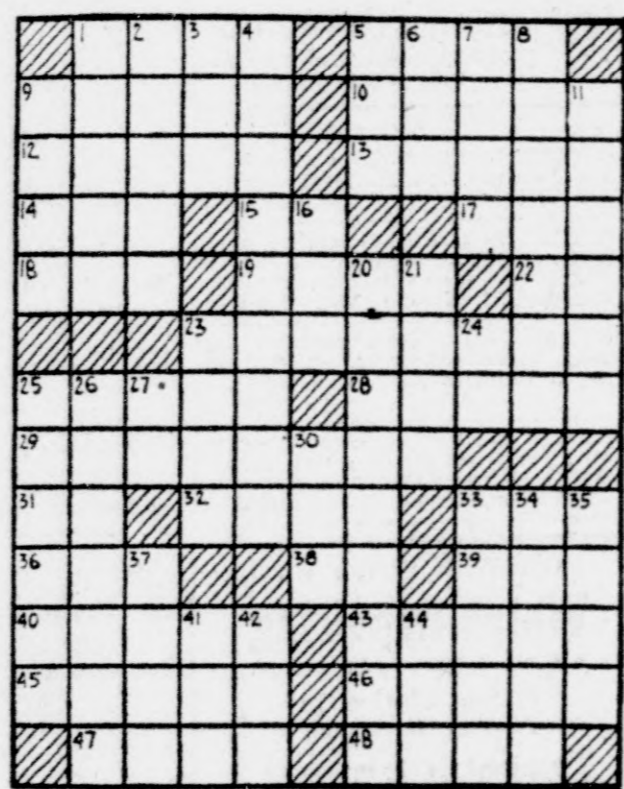

New Castle Legion Will Play Grovers Here On Saturday
New Castle American Legion Junior baseball team will play the Grove City Legion team at the Washington High field at 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening, it was announced by Wesley A. Mann, chairman.

The Grove City team is leading the Eastern Mercer County league of junior teams and will provide a lot of competition for the New Castle team, it was indicated. The New Castle team is in the throes of a winning streak.

Elmer (Violent) Ray, one of two heavyweights they plan to offer Joe Louis as a championship opponent for the scheduled September 18 fight, has made a conflicting impression upon Syracuse boxing fans.

Favor Abrams To Defeat Belloise

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS)—George Abrams of Brooklyn is a 5 to 7 favorite to defeat Steve Belloise, New York middleweight, in their return 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight. Their previous meeting last year resulted in a close win for Abrams.

Belloise has had 27 bouts since his discharge from the navy, and won all of them except the Abrams one. Twenty of these triumphs were knockouts.

Plovers are called kieveits in Holland and lapwings or pewees in the British Isles.

Higher Prices Forecast In Market Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1947, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)
BABSON PARK, Mass., July 11.—Most of the stock market barometers forecast higher prices. This is due to the large amount of money in circulation, abundant credit, good dividends, high farm incomes, no unemployment and general prosperity. Yet, there is an underlying lack of confidence which makes large investors hesitant. The simple fact is that too many businessmen are discouraged and discouraged officials have enough money and do not need to work. They really hold their positions because they want to be of service and thus far have "enjoyed the game." Now they are unfortunately reaching for a time when they wonder if their work and worry is worthwhile. As these men are an important factor in the development of business, this discouraged attitude has a serious backfire. Let me tell you why.

Statistics show that 2 per cent of the population of the U. S. is responsible for 90 per cent of the new building, new business, new inventions and enterprise in general. It is hard to make people believe this fact and labor leaders scorn it; but it nevertheless is true. Kill off 1 per cent of the population—if this 1 per cent were the business drivers of the country—the nation would go into the greatest slump in history.

Taxes and Labor
During the debate on the tax bill, President Truman and his friends tried to show that the reduction in dollars which would go to this 2 per cent would be out of proportion to the reduction in dollars which would go to the rest of the population. This is notwithstanding the fact that the upper bracket people would get a tax cut of only 15 per cent compared with a tax cut of 30 per cent which the great mass of taxpayers would receive. Yet, higher bracket people are the ones who have needed the brains, inventive genius, organization ability and "drive" which makes industry tick.

Industrial leaders were therefore much disappointed when the president vetoed the tax bill. They furthermore were again disappointed when President Truman vetoed the labor bill, even though congress passed it over his veto. Why? Because when they went to their offices next morning, with new plans to spend money for improvements and extensions, more serious strikes were threatened. Thousands of men even left the coal mines in retaliation of congress. As coal is vital to all industry, business leaders once more asked themselves: "Why bother?"

Free Enterprise
Capitalism, so-called, has many faults. It seems unfair that one boy should be born with a million dollars, while another boy equally worthy should inherit only debts. Monopolies of any kind are wrong; business leaders have abused their power in many ways. The fact that labor organizations have copied the same wrong methods is no excuse for the sins of capital. "Two blacks do not make a white"—nor do two wrongs make a right.

President Truman should, however, honestly explain and recognize that there is a difference in people and that the few natural leaders should be encouraged and not persecuted as at present. The idea that everyone is equal in ability, as first emphasized by the leaders of the French Revolution and as now preached by the New Dealers, Socialists and Communists, is fundamentally unsound and every reader knows it. It may require a great depression to get people once more to think honestly and correctly; unless before then the importance of the 2 per cent is frankly recognized.

What About Vacation?
It is in view of the above that the stock market has reached a stalemate. It goes up a few points and then down a few points, with small volume of transactions. These transactions are mostly by professional speculators sitting in the offices of the brokers. The real worth-while industrialists, merchants, bankers and professional men are tired and discouraged. Perhaps a good vacation this summer may do them. Let us hope that will take it and come back renewed in spirit and once again willing to buy stocks.

Doctor On Trial For Mass Killing Of Texas Family

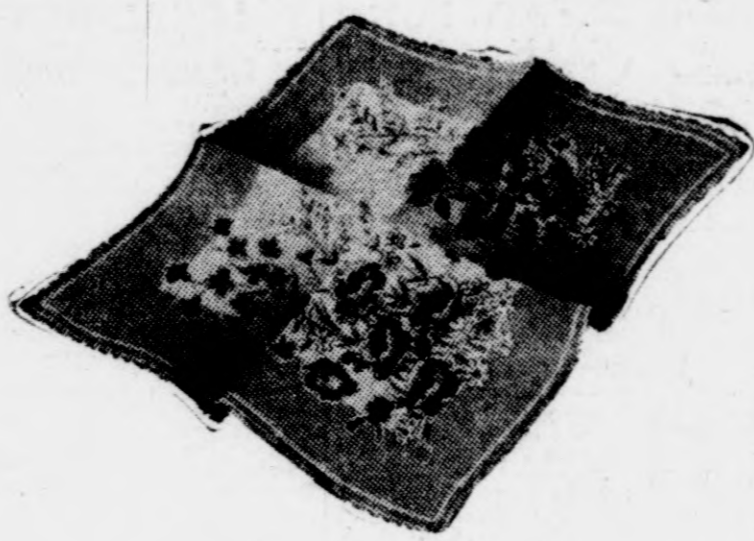

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., July 11. (INS)—Judge J. R. Fuchs today ordered a special venire of 72 men for the trial of Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, prominent San Antonio, Tex., surgeon, charged with the mass slaying of the Willard York family last May 25.

Judge Fuchs set July 28 as the trial date. The grand jury yesterday returned four murder indictments against Ross in addition to a fifth bill charging attempted murder. Four members of the York family were killed and 13-year-old Anne York, only survivor of the massacre, was wounded.

The murder victims were Willard H. York, his wife, a small son and York's mother. They were slain by rifle fire as they drove to church from their country home.

Although wounded in the hip, Anne escaped to a nearby home. Police said Dr. Ross and York had been associated in financial matters, prior to the shooting. Before the slayings, Ross had filed suit in district court seeking the recovery of $80,000 which he claimed he had invested with York.

Tin cans first were made by tin-smiths, who turned them out by hand at the rate of 60 a day.
